CABINET CONFERENCE DELAYED BY PEARSON

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson was scheduled to hold a press conference late today to announce shifts in the cabinet.

Mr. Pearson originally hoped to have the conference this morning, but revised the schedule because of his delay returning from Paris Sunday.

He leaves for Washington Tuesday and holds talks with President Johnson Wednesday.

REVISED PLAN

Federal Pension Reduced

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has redesigned its proposed Canada Pension Plan by lowering benefits, thus cutting costs and making it possible to build up a huge $2,600,000,000 reserve after 10 years of employee-employer contributions.

COMING HERE

Queen Mother Elizabeth will spend a day in Victoria in early February, en route to New Zealand and Australia for a seven-week tour, it was announced Sunday. (See story on Page 13.)

Tanganyika Erupts In Revolt

DAR-ESS-SALAAM, Tanganyika (UPI)—Tanganyika army units mutinied against their white British officers here today.

African mobs caught the flame of revolt and began rioting through the Asian quarters of this East African capital.

Mobs of civilians stormed through the streets shouting "colonialists go home," looting and smashing shops. First indications were that the army mutineers had returned to their barracks after gaining satisfaction. But gunfire which had been crackling sporadically since before dawn, subsequently became more frequent.

British commonwealth secretary Duncan Sandys told the Commons in London that by mid-afternoon the situation in Dar-ess-Salaam "was again deteriorating" and "troops have broken out of their barracks and are roaming the town."

FRIGATE ARRIVES

Sandys also said a British frigate had been dispatched to the area with a company of British troops aboard. He said the frigate Rhy had arrived from Zanzibar, and was standing by, close off the Tanganyikan shore.

(Sandys told Commons that some of the European residents of Dar-ess-Salaam had been "sized and maltreated.")

It was the second uprising to break out in the former British African territories in two days and followed by just eight days the bloody revolt that overthrew the Arab-led government of Zanzibar.

The military leader of the Zanzibar coup, "Field Marshal" John Okello, was reported to have arrived in Dar-ess-Salaam for a "rest cure" shortly before the Tanganyika troop rebellion broke out.

The changes, revealed today by Prime Minister Pearson, have these main effects:

The contribution rate — one per cent each by employees and employers, or two per cent by the self-employed — would remain unchanged at the start. But now it would be based on the first $375 a month of a person's income instead of the originally-proposed income ceiling of $333.

Benefits after the first 10 years of the plan's operation would be 20 per cent of the income ceiling, instead of 30. Thus, the maximum pension would be reduced to $75 a month from $100.

Atop this would be the $75 monthly old-age security pension financed from income taxes and payable to everyone at age 70 — plus the benefits of any private pension plan.

PROVIDES FOR OPTION

Instead of reducing the contributory pension for retired persons claiming it between the ages of 65 and 69, the government now plans to pay them the full 20-per-cent rate and — for the first time — allow them the option of claiming a reduced old age security pension.

The old age security pension would be reduced by an amount that would make a person's lifetime benefits equal to what he would have received by waiting for the full $75 monthly at age 70, based on life expectancy.

The reduction at age 65 would be 32.5 per cent — giving a person about $51 a month for life, plus his 20-per-cent contributory benefit of $75 if he has contributed on the maximum income level.

Combination of the two pensions means for a single person $150 a month at age 70, or $126 a month if he chooses to take both pensions at age 65. For a married couple in the case where the breadwinner alone has contributed to the retirement scheme, they would get $225 monthly at age 70 or $177 a month if they chose to take the old-age security benefit at age 65.

SENT MEMORANDUM

The prime minister, in a Jan. 11 memorandum to the provincial premiers which was released today, said paying this reduced old-age security pension before age 70 is not expected to exceed tax revenues from the present taxing formula.

Effective Jan. 1, the government raised to four per cent from three the old age security tax that applies to individuals on their first $3,000 of taxable income, up to a yearly limit of $120. The three-per-cent old age security tax on corporations and manufacturers' sales was unchanged.

In his memorandum, Mr. Pearson invited the premiers' comments.

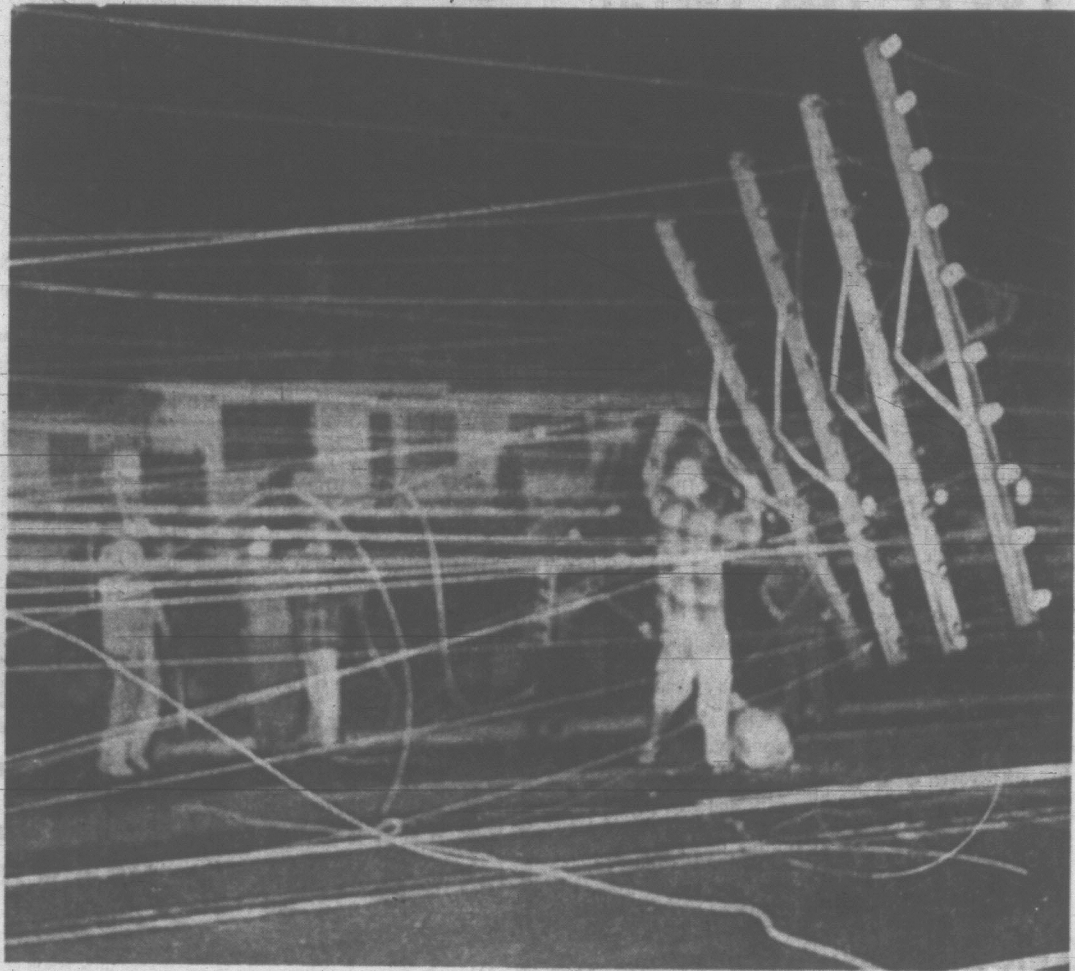

But at the same time, he said the government will go ahead with legislation to implement the plan. The legislation would be presented to Parliament at the session opening Feb. 18.

Mr. Pearson reiterated the government's intention to refer the legislation to a parliamentary committee "for detailed study."

This indicated that another federal-provincial conference on the subject will not be called.

MY DARLING CLEMENTINE

Diana's Temple Scene Of Winston's Proposal

By JACK FISHMAN
(Second in a series of 13)

articles excerpted from "My Darling Clementine," the story of Lady Churchill, one of the most fascinating personalities of our time.

Whirlwind courtships ran in the Churchill family. Winston's father boasted that when he met 19-year-old Jennie Jerome, he proposed and was accepted all in three days.

Of their courtship, Clementine said, "He was of a temper that gallops till it falls." Lady Blanche saw that Winston was an incurable romantic and that a woman in his life could make or break it. Knowing her daughter, she recognized that, although a natural rebel, her disciplined modesty, her discretion, her gift of devotion, plus sense of duty, would make her the right woman for Winston.

Lady Blanche was certain that in spite of Clementine's possessing a distinct personality of her own, her sense of dignity would never allow her temperament to create domestic turmoil that would intrude into her husband's public or private life.

Even in those days, when Winston wanted something, he usually got it, and he wanted Clementine.

He asked his cousin, the Duke of Marlborough, to invite Blanche Hozier and her daughter Clementine to Blenheim Palace.

"A female friend, amiable, clever, and devoted, is a possession more valuable than parks or palaces; and without such a Muse few men can succeed, and none can be happy."

Diana's Temple

Those were the words of Benjamin Disraeli, and young Winston Churchill was certain that his success and happiness were bound up with Clementine Hozier.

Pete Loudon's Welfare Series Continues Tuesday

Guess a smaller pension y' get is better'n a bigger one y' don't.

Wish that wind c'd blow through th' Legislature.

Along with cigarettes, there's many a package deal that should be labelled harmful.

One day in August, he strolled with Clementine from the front entrance of historic Blenheim Palace toward Diana's temple—the stone pavilion set among the yew trees by the lake he loved so much.

Within the temple a bas-relief shows Hippolytus offering a wreath of flowers to Diana. The first line of the inscription, which is in Greek and English, reads:

"To thee bright Goddess, these flowers I bring."

It was there he proposed and she accepted.

Said Clementine, "Now I have got you, the trouble will be to keep you."

To which Winston replied, "You will find that no trouble at all, my dear."

His mother, who had known Clementine from a baby, was delighted with the match. Her son was affectionate, emotional.

Beating Taken By Power Lines

By AB KENT

South Vancouver Island communications systems were still reeling today from a Sunday storm that shook houses, upset pedestrians, downed trees, set a new low-pressure record and blew rain and spume up to 80 miles an hour.

The sudden Pacific blast was felt chiefly in the Puget Sound area, hitting Seattle and Tacoma hard.

In Vancouver it eased off, but knocked out power, snapped trees and closed down 640-acre Stanley Park.

Dominion weather office expects cooler weather, rain or snow showers and more wind up to 35 miles an hour later this week.

Main trunk telephone lines out of Victoria to Nanaimo and west to the Alberni and Wickaninish Bay area were shattered by the blow.

Driver Imprisoned by Downed Wires

Motorist Dave Reidie, 426 West Burnside, became a prisoner—nearly a casualty—of downed wires and poles as he headed south on Douglas Street at 7:05 p.m.

Police rescued him from a huge spider web of wires and cables that netted his car when six B.C. Telephone poles were knocked down by winds.

He said he stopped his car when he heard a pole crash behind him near the Tally-ho Hotel. Just then another pole hit the pavement in front of him.

Not knowing whether they were electric power or telephone lines he stayed in the car.

All available telephone repair crews were put to work all day Sunday, worked long after dark and were out again today restoring service.

B.C. Telephone spokesman Glyn Jones said the downed lines included 2,000 pairs of wire, carried in cables, plus single-strand wires carried on four 10-line cross arms.

Long-distance and telephone circuits were interrupted.

Some Phone Connections Still Out

Victoria-Swartz Bay-Gulf Islands lines, Victoria-Nanaimo, Port Alberni-Nanaimo and Victoria-East Sooke connections were still out before noon, some intermittently.

Nanaimo experienced local troubles as well.

A cable was broken at Sidney by a falling tree and there was intermittent service between Nanaimo and Courtenay, Mr. Jones said.

Power interruptions were spotty in Victoria, Saanich and Sooke areas.

Two 8x12-foot glass windows at Morrison Motors were sucked spectacularly into Yates Street, showering pavement with shreds of shattered glass.

This occurred just before 5 p.m. when wind gusts to 80 miles an hour after blowing at 43-53 mph during the afternoon.

Two women walking near the Royal Theatre were taken by surprise when a gust snatched their umbrella away, then knocked both to the street.

Roof Damaged at TCA Terminal

At Victoria International Airport at Patricia Bay a chunk of roofing was torn off the Trans-Canada Air Line terminal, dowsing the passenger section with rainwater.

Scaffolding on nearby new construction was tossed about like a flock of starlings.

Police had difficulty dissuading Sunday drivers from taking the Ross Bay seawall route along Dallas Road, where the sea put on a spectacular show.

Driftwood was tossed on to the roadway and across it into the cemetery. Police erected barricades, which drivers bypassed to drive through the spray.

Salt water stilled a few cars this way before drivers reached the dry end.

Despite the seas, B.C. Ferries maintained steady service to the mainland, although Gulf Islands service was disrupted.

At 5 p.m. it was announced on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run there would be no meals served in the tossing dining-room. But officials relented later.

Queen of the Islands, serving the gulf via Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen, missed its second round trip of the islands. Pender Queen stayed over at Swartz Bay to accommodate Tsawwassen passengers heading for the islands.

Rough Time Had by Pender Queen

Vancouver Island-bound passengers from Pender Island prepared to spend the night when Pender Queen failed to land at Port Washington at 6 p.m.

Gale and seas were hitting the ferry broadside as the vessel approached its berth where the Canadian Coast Guard cutter Racer was tied snugly alongside.

She backed off, dangerously

close to the rocks, and beat a retreat for Swartz Bay, leaving a half-dozen cars and some foot passengers stranded.

Good-neighbourliness of islanders got the travellers placed, then roused them again by phone as Pender Queen returned to Hope Bay, on the northeastern tip of the island, after midnight.

Passengers were returned to

Yes, Said the Prince, I Think You're Afire

LONDON (Reuters)—Prince Philip called at Arthur Mitchell's back door on a municipal housing estate to tell him his chimney was on fire, it was reported today.

The Queen's husband was accompanied by his 15-year-old son, Prince Charles. They happened to be passing in their Landrover truck near the royal estate at Sandringham.

Mitchell, a 57-year-old civil servant, was eating when they appeared at the window and pointed upwards.

At the backdoor, not recognizing his visitors, Mitchell said: "Hello, anything wrong?"

"I think your chimney is on fire," the prince said.

Strolling outside, Arthur told the prince: "By jove, you're right."

The prince replied: "Yes I think you're on fire."

They talked a little more about how to put it out, and the prince said: "It doesn't look so bad now. I'll be going."

Arthur, returning to his pie in the kitchen, learned from his wife the identity of the visitors.

"I hope you didn't say anything out of place," she said.

CAMERAMEN 'STRIKE' QUEEN

LONDON (Reuters)—British newspaper photographers staged "a royal strike" today and refused to take pictures of Queen Elizabeth and her son, the Prince of Wales, when they arrived at a London railway station.

Instead the photographers—some two dozen of them—formed up on the road opposite the platform with their hands in their pockets or at a position of attention as the Queen and the prince left their coach.

A spokesman for the photographers said later it was not meant as disrespect to the Queen. They protested against lack of facilities for the press.

... PENSION

INVEST FUNDS

The $2,500,000 reserve that will build up in the fund after its first 10 years results from these various changes, and also from last year's decision to increase old age security taxes instead of using contributions to finance the $10 increase to $75 monthly in the universal old-age pension.

Mr. Pearson said half of this money will be invested in federal securities.

The other half will be invested in provincial or provincially guaranteed securities, with the money "distributed among the provinces in ratio to the contribution incomes from each province."

This may meet the Ontario Government's chief objection to the plan in its original form—namely, that by paying out contributions in benefits almost as soon as they come in, there would be a loss of available investment capital because many may drop contributions to private pension schemes that now accumulate this capital.

"The federal proposal is designed to cause as little disturbance as possible to private pension plans," Mr. Pearson said in his memorandum.

He said the purpose of the federal scheme is to provide—in combination with the old-age security pensions of $75 monthly payable to everyone at age 70—"pensions which are modestly adequate for those people who are not in a position to make any other provision for their retirement."

COMPULSORY FOR MOST

There is no way to do this except by making the plan as near "universal" as possible, he said. The plan will be compulsory for about 80 per cent of the working population—all except the self-employed and those working for employers for whom it would be "administratively difficult" to collect contributions.

"The federal government does not believe it is practicable to provide for contracting-out of the public plan in favor of private plans," he wrote.

"Instead of contracting out, the continuation and extension of private plans will rest on the continuing incentive for contributors to make additional provision for their retirement."

"The federal government considers that this incentive would probably remain adequate under its original proposals. With the suggested revisions there would be even less danger of weakening the incentive."

By making people familiar with the pension idea, he said, the federal operation would "stimulate the establishment of private plans for more and more of the 70-per cent of the labor force not now covered."

MOST PLANS UNCHANGED

Mr. Pearson said the existing private pension plans which provide "relatively small benefits and contribution rates" could be expected to remain unchanged in most cases. But some of "the most generous" of the private plans undoubtedly would require adjustments.

"It should be emphasized that such adjustment does not involve interference with the pension benefits for which people have already made contributions."

"The changes involved concern only the extent to which future contributions, and the benefits deriving from them, should be adjusted to the existence of the Canada Pension Plan."

Mr. Pearson said the decision to reduce retirement benefits to 20 per cent from 30 per cent of "pensionable earnings" would cut by one-third the previous actuarial estimates of the percentage of contributions needed to finance the system.

'Slaughter' In Zanzibar

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP)—Tales of mass slaughter of Asians and Arabs following the revolution in Zanzibar reached here from the island state Sunday.

Letters to relatives in Tanganyika and reporters arriving from Zanzibar told of bodies being thrown into communal graves and quickly covered so the true figure would probably never be known.

However, he said this saving in turn is reduced by changes in the government's plan—also revealed in his memorandum—to pay pensions on the 20-per cent scale to retired persons who choose to draw their benefits between the ages of 65 and 70.

ESTIMATE SAVING

He said a rough estimate of the cost saving, with that taken into account, is one-fifth.

Based on revised actuarial estimates, the rate of contributions needed by the year 2000 would rise to between three and 3.4 per cent of pensionable earnings—the income ceiling.

By averaging the actuarial high- and low-cost assumptions, which take account of such things as birth and mortality rates, the government produced a table showing that by the year 2050 the contribution rate needed to finance the plan would be 4.4 per cent.

However, Mr. Pearson pointed out that these assumptions do not take account of the interest earned by the government on investing the fund reserve.

He said the proposed legislation will set out a schedule of contribution rates starting at one per cent each from employers and employees.

The legislation itself will include the dates—not cited in the prime minister's memorandum—at which the contribution rates could be stepped up by one-quarter of one per cent to the level estimated to be required by the year 2000.

The government would be given power to defer these steps until it turns out that the plan's finances do not make them necessary. But it would have to ask Parliament before the scheduled increases could be made earlier than specified in the act.

UNCHANGED FOR 5 YEARS

Following are the details of the revised government plan: It will be based on the $4,500 level of pensionable earnings. This figure will remain unchanged for the first five years. Thereafter it will be "adjusted in steps of $100 a year as required."

The 10-year transition period would mean that benefits, as a proportion of the changing income ceiling, would be two per cent of that ceiling in the first year, rising by two percentage points a year to 20 per cent in the 10th year.

This would be available to everyone at age 70, plus those between 65 and 69 who have retired.

However, those who retire at age 65 and choose to claim their Canada Pension Plan benefits then will get a reduced pension.

They would get their 20-per cent payment. But, for the first time, the government would begin paying the old age security pension to them at a rate 32.5-per cent less than they would get by waiting until age 70. There would be corresponding cuts for those retiring at ages between 65 and 69.

This would mean paying age-reduced pensions in part from the old age security fund. But Mr. Pearson said these payments are not expected to exceed revenues from the fund, bolstered Jan. 1 by an increase in the old age security tax paid by individuals.

There would be no retirement or means test for those who take the old-age security pension before the age of 70.

But for the earnings-related benefit—that is, the one financed from contributions—pensions starting before age 70 would be conditional on retirement. Those who retire would be allowed "earnings" of $900 a year in wages or salaries—that is, income from self-employment, excluding any income from property.

For those who are "retired" and yet earn between $900 and $1,500 a year, $1 would be deducted from the annual pension for every $2 of earnings. For earnings beyond $1,500 a year by such people, every $1 earned would reduce the pension benefit by $1. However, a retired person who earned not more than $75 in any one month would be entitled to draw the full pension for that month.

Under the transition period, the age at which both the old age security pension and the earnings-related benefits would become available would be lowered one step at a time.

After one year of operating the plan, the benefits would be available at age 69, after two years at age 68 and so on until benefits are payable to those 65 five years after the plan begins.

PLASTIC WORMS LURE RED FISH TO HOOK

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet chemical industry is producing plastic worms to catch real fish—and the fish are falling for the bait.

The newspaper Leninist Banner reported Sunday the worms are being turned out at a factory in suburban Moscow.

It said 50,000 worms were produced last year and that the demand is so great that this year's output will be 1,500,000.

The synthetic worms are a boon for Moscow's thousands of amateur fishermen who fish through holes in the ice in the frozen rivers and canals in and around the capital.

One fisherman, the paper reported, caught seven fish in five minutes—using the same inedible plastic worm.

30-Cent Boost IWA '64 Goal

VANCOUVER (CP)—The International Woodworkers of America, Local 1-217, jumped the gun Sunday, releasing wage increase demands for a new contract to be negotiated in the spring.

George Kowbel, local vice-president, said the union will demand a wage increase of 30 cents an hour and 30 cents for unspecified benefits.

Kowbel said he made the statement on instructions from local president Syd Thompson who predicted at the meeting that 1964 will be the best ever for the province's forest industry.

"Thompson suggested that employees in the forest industry should never be satisfied until they are the best paid people in the province," Kowbel said.

The local's resolution was to be forwarded to a wages and contracts conference which meets in February to discuss union demands.

tional, home-loving. She was sure Clementine was the wife he needed.

An excited Blanche Hoxier wrote to a friend from Blenheim Palace with the news of the engagement, saying:

"Clementine is to marry Winston Churchill. Yesterday he came to London to ask my consent, and we all three came on here. He is so like Lord Randolph, he has some of his faults, and all his qualities."

"He is gentle and tender, and affectionate to those he loves, much hated by those who have not come under his personal charm."

Her mother also wrote to her sister-in-law Mabel, the Countess of Airlie:

"I do not know which of the two is the more in love. I think that to know him is to like him. His brilliant brain the world knows, but he is so charming and affectionate in his own home life."

Know-alls said, "He hasn't any money, and neither has she." And in society, in those days, it was the accepted "thing" to marry for money.

The bridal gown was ready, so were the dresses of the five bridesmaids. "Something old" was supplied by Winston's mother—lace to trim the bride's cuffs and neckline. London was excited at the prospect of the occasion—it was to be one of the most brilliant weddings of the year.

CPR Pioneer Dies at 92

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thomas Huntley Crump, a man who always called himself a railroad laborer and watched his executive son rise to the top in the railroad business, died here Saturday at 92.

His son, N. R. Crump, now chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was one of three who followed him into the transportation business.

But none of the youngsters started right at the bottom as their father had. And he remembered his early work on the section through to retirement in 1934 as superintendent of the CPR's Kettle Valley division. After 44 years in rail service, he lived for many years in the Hotel Vancouver, then operated jointly by the CPR and Canadian National Railway.

... STORM

Swartz Bay by early morning, when the ferry backedtrack to Saturna Island for a brief lay-over before starting today's service at 5 a.m.

The Duncan and Chemainus areas had intermittent power breaks up to seven hours long, and early today there was about an inch of snow at Cobble Hill, 10 inches at Lake Cowichan.

Just before the storm struck, the mercury fell to a barometric reading of 28.58 inches at sea level, a record since weather statistics were first kept here in 1898. Previous low pressure here was 28.65 inches Dec. 6, 1952.

Barometric Reading Hits New Low

Vancouver also set a new pressure low with 28.6 inches at the airport, and at Tofino airport, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, the barometer reading was 28.45 inches.

Winds started from the southeast, gusting to 60 in the forenoon, then lulled and swung into the southwest for the big blow. Last heavy gust was 63 miles an hour at 10 p.m.

"Unsettled," is the last word from Gonzales Hill.

CUTBACK CONDEMNED

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan Premier W. S. Lloyd today criticized proposed changes in the Canada pension plan as a "watering down" of the plan.

Mr. Lloyd said he was particularly critical of the federal government's proposal to reduce pension benefits paid at retirement from 30 per cent of the average annual lifetime earnings to 20 per cent.

"This drastic reduction in the benefit formula... defeats the main purpose of a contributory system which is to help people in planning against too drastic a drop in income when they retire," Mr. Lloyd said.

The winds flipped over several small planes at the Renton airport. On the Columbia River near Tongue Point, two 350-foot freighters, the Grand Prince and the Othello, collided in the wind-whipped waters.

Snow blanketed western Washington after the storm passed, ranging from two inches in Seattle and Everett areas to 10 inches at Holly, on Hood Canal.

A number of outlying schools closed for the day.

'Involvement' Key Word For Liberals

By FRANK RUTTER
Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—B.C.'s Liberals have come down to earth with a new look and new aims for party organization.

There were few tears shed at their convention here on the weekend over the disappointments of the provincial election.

It had the biggest attendance—over 450—of any Liberal convention in history, according to party officials.

It cleaned out its executive, replaced its constitution and set its sights on the realistic goal of power by stages instead of what leader Ray Perrault called "instant victory."

In the process, Mr. Perrault not only won a vote of confidence but appeared to have secured lasting allegiance from a wavering faction that had considered trying to replace him.

Many as Possible Involved in Party

This convention went a long way toward tearing down the old image of a party controlled by only a few men with lofty, though indistinct policies based on conservative liberalism.

The new world in the Liberal policy now is "involvement."

It was used by most of the key speakers at the convention.

The idea is to get as many people as possible involved in the direction of the party.

The new constitution is aimed at helping this because it removes the old system of control in the hands of a few and gives much more power to local constituencies.

National Liberal organizer Keith Davey, one of the guest speakers, said the formula for political success is People-plus-work-plus-communication.

B.C. leader Perrault and Fernie MLA Harry McKay set the mood of realism by telling the convention, in effect, to get down from the clouds, and set sights on a gradual recovery over, perhaps, two elections.

Campaign Aimed at Rural Districts

The new party president, Larry Jolivet, said the place to concentrate first is rural B.C.

He said he ignored B.C. after the Sept. 30 election asking people why the Liberals didn't do better.

The answer he got: "The government spent so much money."

Social Credit had all the advantages of material appeal, he said.

"After all a dam is pretty sexy."

The Liberals' answer, he believes, is to achieve "involvement."

The new executive chosen at the convention was a rejection of the "old guard."

Mr. Jolivet was a unanimous choice. But other officers beat candidates on a previously prepared slate.

Youthful financial executive Art Phillips, the first vice-president, and second vice-president Jarl Whist of Kamloops were both upset choices.

There was a brief flurry of revolt, headed by long-time party worker Haroldine Copp of Vancouver Burrard.

She charged the officers were being chosen by federal MPs and MLAs, who nominated Mr. Jolivet and Mr. Phillips.

'Grass Roots' Selections Preferred

"Are we an extension of the Ottawa caucus?" Miss Copp asked. "We are a grass roots party and we want to know the people who are elected are grass roots' choice."

Replied Vancouver-Quadra MP Grant Deschamps: "I hope

all the MPs and MLAs are members of the Liberal party."

That snuffed any further protest.

While there were few significant resolutions at the convention, the mood was one of cautious enthusiasm and sober determination.

"There was a minimum of platitudes," said Mr. Perrault. And, he added: "We have demonstrated that we are a united party."

Garrison Church Officers Elected

Dr. J. W. Rogers was elected rector's warden of St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, at its annual vestry meeting Tuesday.

G. W. Baugh Allen was elected warden eremitus; Cmdr. W. S. T. McCully, people's warden; and D. Warden, treasurer.

Appointed to the committee were Dr. K. E. Leslie, Reeve A. C. Wurtele, Capt. R. M. Battles, Lt. N. E. Byron, Chief Petty Officer A. W. Tassell, W. Plater, F. W. Sendell, Mrs. A. R. West and Mrs. Olive E. Archer.

SWEEP AWAY IN WIND

Flying Grandma Lost on Balloon

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A huge search spread to Mexico today as scores of planes and ships hunted an adventurous grandmother of 10 who vanished high above stormy Catalina Channel in a hot-air balloon.

Red-haired Barbara Keith, 42, of Hartford, Conn., disappeared in rain clouds at 10,000 feet some 15 miles from land.

She was one of eight balloon pilots who took off Saturday to race from Avalon on Santa Catalina Island to mainland California. One fell nearby. Seven left the island as small craft warnings were flying and rain came down. Only one made it to the coast.

Boats rescued the airmen, including actor Cliff Robertson, but Mrs. Keith's onion-shaped balloon went higher than the others, caught a stiff breeze, and outdistanced its escorting boat below.

A widespread search found no trace of her at sea. Then balloonists consulted wind reports and decided that at 10,000 feet she might have hit gusts strong enough to push her across the coast near here before her four-hour fuel supply ran out.

Planes were ordered to search starting at dawn, as far south as Ensenada, Mexico, 70 miles from here, and for a distance of 40 miles inland. Hopes of finding her safe at sea were growing slim.

Indonesians Take Control Of Shell Oil, Unilever

WARNING

Johnson To Fight Inflation

WASHINGTON (CP)—Stressing a need to battle poverty, President Johnson predicted today that U.S. prosperity may push gross national production to a record of more than $623,000,000,000 this year, provided Congress immediately enacts a long-awaited $11,000,000,000 tax cut.

At the same time, he reported "disquieting" omens of price rises, warning business and labor he is establishing an "early warning system" among government agencies to keep a close watch on price and wage developments.

In the face of a 44-per-cent rise in U.S. corporate profits in less than three years and the prospect of further rises through anticipated tax cuts, Johnson told Congress in his first annual economic message that he sees "no war" for inflationary price boosts.

He said he will "not hesitate to draw public attention to major actions by either business or labor that flout the public interest in non-inflationary price and wage standards."

LBJ Urges K to Widen Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has called on Soviet Premier Khrushchev to broaden his proposal for a world-wide non-aggression pact to outlaw "indirect" as well as direct aggression and provide greater security for West Berlin.

In a letter made public today, the president proposed four "guidelines" for international agreement which he said would be "even broader and stronger" than Khrushchev's proposed ban on the use of force in territorial disputes.

Johnson did not specify Berlin or its access routes across Communist East Germany in his reply to Khrushchev's Dec. 31 message. But administration officials said he had the Berlin problem in mind.

JAKARTA (Reuters)—The Indonesian government was reported today to have taken over titular control of the Shell Oil Company and the Unilever Corporation after Communist-led unionists moved into the enterprises and claimed control.

The vast British-owned P. and T. land, rubber and tea estates in West Java, employing 30,000 people, were also believed to be under government supervision.

Earlier today labor unions assumed management of Unilever after warning the British and German executive staff to remain at home or there would be "disorders."

BOLT DOOR

They took over the main office switchboard and bolted the Unilever office doors, freezing all business throughout the morning.

At the Shell office they ordered the British executive staff to leave and plastered signs on the walls saying "Indonesian property" and ran up a red flag beside the Indonesian flag on the building.

ARGUE WITH UNION

The Shell executives refused to vacate their office and entered into prolonged debate with the union leaders.

A British spokesman said the embassy received a telegram from the Airport Employees Association (Serbaud) saying British planes would be boycotted if they tried to land in Indonesia. The association said the boycott would take effect from 6 a.m. local time Wednesday, the day U.S. Attorney-General Robert Kennedy is to arrive here.

DETAIN SHIPS

Serbaud said it decided on the boycott because of Britain's alleged detention of two Indonesian pilgrim ships in Hong Kong and the blocking of Ameri-

The Blind Eye

ENOUGH EVIDENCE OF GOVERNMENTAL neglect has now been exposed to show that an adequate social welfare program is one of the most serious needs facing this province. Enough informed advice has been tendered to show the government how it can approach the problem and overcome it. Social welfare therefore should be a top priority item on the agenda of the legislature which will meet later this week.

One of the most depressing facets of the current concern about social welfare in British Columbia is the inability of the government to recognize that it is fumbling the whole program, that it is falling down on the job.

The only official reaction to criticism—and the criticism comes from experts—is to announce that everything is fine, that this province leads all the others, that more money is being spent than before, that the critics are only trying to embarrass the government, and so on. There is no evidence that any intelligent suggestions can penetrate the solid wall of the government's official complacency and self-satisfaction.

It apparently means nothing to the premier and his ministers when an experienced and highly respected social welfare worker reports that it is impossible to do the job she is supposed to be doing because there is not enough staff—just as it meant nothing three years ago when the supervisor of child welfare for the province resigned in protest against exactly the same conditions.

It means nothing, apparently, that babies cannot be adopted because their cases cannot be attended to—yet, to put it on the lowest monetary basis, they would cost the province nothing once they were adopted whereas now they must be supported in "temporary" foster homes. It means nothing, apparently, that young disturbed children cannot be properly treated and trained because there is nowhere to put them, yet these inevitably go on to fill our prisons later—at greater cost. It means nothing, apparently, that boys are pushed through over-crowded Brannen Lake school without any improvement or proper treatment and come back into the cities to continue their costly anti-social behavior.

It means nothing, apparently, that our province is charged with having the highest rate of unmarried mothers per capita, the most foster children per capita (which means broken homes), the highest number of juvenile delinquents, or our population, and the highest per capita divorce rate.

If you dig very deep—and the average citizen has no occasion to or desire to—you may find that our grand and glorious province, with its boasted living standards, its debtlessness, the matchless natural resources which politicians delight to describe and take credit for, turns out to be a cesspool of shocking conditions for the handicapped and shamefully inadequate provision for crying social needs.

Someone has suggested a royal commission to study the whole situation. That is not necessary. The whole story is in the field reports of workers, in the annual reports of department heads, in the statistics of the government itself, if anybody would read them.

It is time the public interested itself in these things and forced the government to take action, for it is clear that we can expect little leadership from our leaders.

Progress But Not Perfection

CITIZENS WHO WANT TO SEE this area grow according to plan, and not like Topsy, will be encouraged by the recently published review of the Capital Region Planning Board of British Columbia.

In the review they will note a score of projects implemented by various governing bodies on the advice of the planners. But gratification will be tempered by the board's statement that: "Although this list (of completed projects) may provide some cause for satisfaction, many important recommendations are being neglected. Some proposals will never be implemented due to conflicting development taking place contrary to the plan."

This explains the position of the board. It can bring intelligent, informed and detailed study to a problem. But it can do no more than recommend a course to follow in an attempt to solve the problem. Decision rests with a majority of the representatives of municipalities.

Some obviously desirable projects can be carried on without unanimity. The advice given by the board to a specific question can be accepted by the council which is directly affected. But the regional nature of planning can be broadly effective only when the majority so decides.

Such a system contains desirable strengths and weaknesses. It avoids bureaucratic control. At the same time it can stultify a good scheme if sufficient opposition can be raised against a proposal and if that opposition is based on very narrow thinking. Logically the elected representatives of a municipality want, and should have, the determining say in major works that are involved in any particular plan. They are the ones directly responsible to the taxpayers who finance the work, either in whole or part.

However, until individual units recognize the mutual benefit of regional planning, pennywise and pound foolish decisions can be made.

It is a matter of some satisfaction that a growing number of our people, elected representatives among them, are becoming aware of the value of planning. This is reflected in the accomplishments cited by the board in its report.

Obviously planners, being human, are going to make mistakes on occasion. Their margin of error, because of their special training, experience and ability to dig out information, is nevertheless negligible in comparison with the big mistakes short-sighted developers—or those who move in for a quick dollar—can make in a community.

Planning costs money—a very small amount in relation to the savings that can be made in avoidance of costly blunders in development. That is a point becoming increasingly apparent to more and more people. It is an awareness which represents, as well as anything else, the effectiveness with which the Capital Region Planning Board of British Columbia has been doing its work for over a decade here.

Mr. Tisdalle and the Petitioners

SAANICH MLA JOHN TISDALLE's adamant opposition to establishment of a government liquor store in his constituency has led him to make some illogical statements concerning the wishes of the people he was elected to serve.

Mr. Tisdalle said the other day that there are many things Saanich needs more than a liquor store. He mentioned, for instance, better mental health services, more welfare staff and a four-lane Patricia Bay Highway.

This is true, and it is interesting to learn that Mr. Tisdalle recognizes the shortcomings of the government, of which he is a member, in providing essential services not only for his own constituents but for all residents of British Columbia.

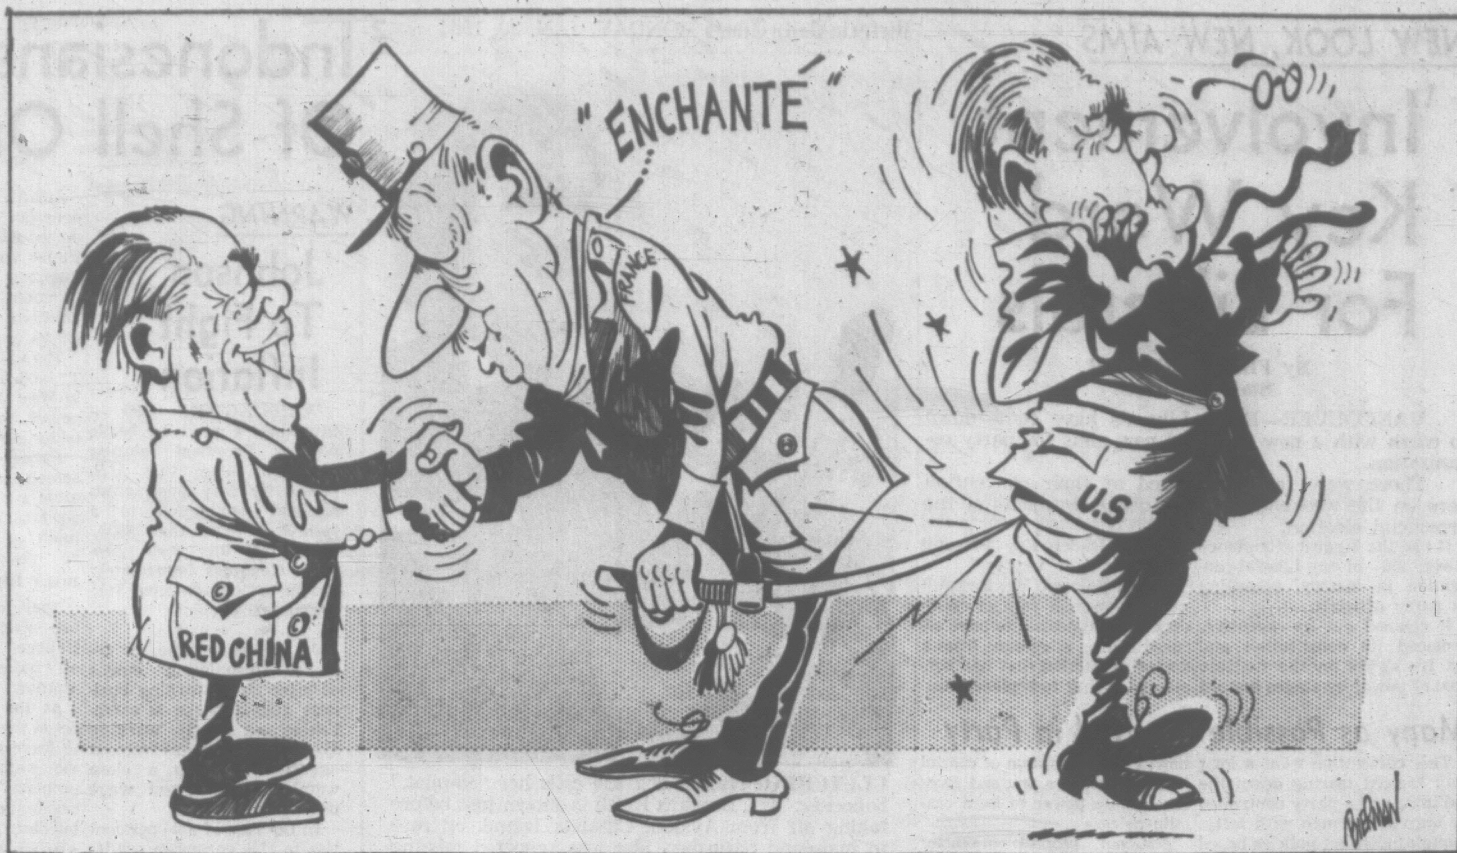

However, the people of Saanich whom Mr. Tisdalle represents are still entitled to know what welfare, or mental health services or highway construction have to do with their requests for a service which is granted to other communities in the province—a government liquor store in a convenient and easily accessible location.

Does Mr. Tisdalle suggest that establishing a branch liquor store in Saanich would use up funds that might otherwise be diverted to a more socially worthwhile purpose? Does he overlook the large profit the government makes on liquor? Does he really mean that if the Saanich petition for a liquor outlet were dropped the government would step up its spending in the other areas he mentioned?

It has been suggested that the government could establish a new liquor outlet in Saanich at minimum cost by leasing premises in one of the shopping centres and Mr. Tisdalle has countered this by saying that both he and Premier Bennett are opposed to liquor stores in these centres. Mr. Tisdalle's opposition has been successful so far in keeping them out of Saanich, but the premier seems to have been less successful in other areas where liquor stores are part of, or located near to, shopping centres.

Mr. Tisdalle is quoted as saying he is not opposed to petitions. However, he sounds like a man who is very much opposed to public petitions when the petitioners seek something which Mr. Tisdalle, in his own wisdom, has decided would not be a good thing for his constituents.

THE MAN WHO WILL MEET JOHNSON

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

'I Will Not Let the Russian People Starve'

WHILE the world waits to see how President Johnson gets on with Mr. Khrushchev, it is clear enough that Mr. Khrushchev himself is wondering how he will get on with President Johnson and earnestly hoping for the best.

The official Soviet response to President Kennedy's death was, as we all know, without precedent in the history of the Soviet Union. The First Secretary of the Communist Party of the USSR spoke of the dead President in the tones of a world statesman mourning the loss of a colleague. Everything possible was done in Moscow to indicate that the Soviet leadership was almost ostentatiously refraining from rocking the boat at what might have been a highly critical conjuncture in Russo-American relations.

There is not the least reason to suppose that Mr. Khrushchev is not serious in his proclaimed desire to achieve at least a working understanding with Washington. Without prejudice to the ultimate advancement of Communism, he has plugged away at this line for the best part of a decade. There have been set-backs and diversions, but he has invariably returned to his central theme—the necessity for the two great powers to establish a modus vivendi and to avoid war.

In the atomic age it is hard to see how any Soviet statesman could take any other line; but Mr. Khrushchev, though never giving away a trick, has identified himself more or less absolutely with it. He did this even when he believed that the Soviet Union was a good deal stronger economically than it is seen to be today and when he had his great Chinese ally at his back. If he thought it was a good policy in 1957, when the world seemed to be moving his way, how much more necessary and inevitable it must appear today, when he is beset on all sides.

For beset he is, harassed by economic difficulties of a really spectacular nature at home and abroad, impotent to stop the Chinese break-away with its tremendous implications for the future of the Communist movement.

The main reasons for the Sino-Soviet quarrel have been precisely Khrushchev's determination to let the cold war die and his overriding preoccupation with consolidation and development at home—both at the cost of the international revolutionary cause.

"I will not let the Russian people starve"—as Stalin and Molotov let them starve—that declaration, exhibiting a spirit entirely new in any Communist leader, sums up one half of his program. The other is detente with the West.

So we have the spectacle of the First Secretary of the Soviet Communist Party, as such the natural leader of an international revolutionary movement, concentrating all his energies on making friends with a professional politician from Texas and reorganizing once more the basis of Soviet industry and agriculture.

Mr. Khrushchev has been doing a great deal of "loss-cutting" in recent months—ever since Cuba, indeed. His abandonment of the moon-pace was more than a symbolic act: it was an abdication and a recognition of reality. Less dramatic, but no less serious and packed with implications for the future, has been the virtual abandonment of the original Comecon dream—the dream of a closely knit Eastern Europe Common Market sharing one centrally integrated economy overriding sovereign aspirations. There has been no outward fuss about this change of direction, which will lead, inevitably, to increasing independence on the part of those of the satellites who feel strong enough to follow their own lines.

Now, bitterest pill of all, the tacit abandonment of the dream of catching up with America, at least in food production, in the foreseeable future. Khrushchev in effect is saying that the Soviet Union must cease extending itself in the international sphere and cultivate its own garden.

The magnitude of last year's harvest disaster, coming on top of the swift and steady extinguishing of the great hopes Khrushchev had built on the Virgin Lands, is not widely appreciated in the West. It is stupendous.

When, in 1954, Mr. Khrushchev launched his scheme to bring into production 100 million acres of derelict and virgin land in south-western Siberia he hoped to solve Russia's food problems once for all and to compensate, through large-scale ranch and prairie farming, for the dismal failure of the collective system in European Russia. He based his planning on an estimated average wheat yield of 20 bushels per acre, which corresponds more or less to the average for prairie farming in the North America (intensive grain farming in East Anglia can produce 80 bushels per acre).

In the first year, cashing in on stored fertility, the yield was 14.5 bushels. For the next seven years, on a falling curve (apart from 1956), the average was 9.2 bushels. In 1963 it fell to a calamitous 5.2 bushels. At the same time there was a harvest failure in the Ukraine.

This is the background to the bulk buying of wheat from the imperialist West and the food queues all over Russia. This is the background to Mr. Khrushchev's adoption of a new panacea, the crash-development of the chemical industry, designed to provide not only fertilizers but also innumerable products required to modernize Soviet society in the age of plastics and synthetics.

Neither the grain nor the plant for the chemical industry can be obtained from the West unless the Soviet Union takes pains to remain on speaking terms with it.

FORTY YEARS AFTER LENIN

He Never Had Any Message for a Free People

IT is 40 years since the death of Lenin. In that time many changes have swept across Russia, and many men have been destroyed by the revolution which they organized. But Lenin has been shaken by no storm, tarnished by no slander, broken by no abuse. His fame stands unique, removed from the rumors of politics and remote from the ambitions of statecraft. It is immortal and invulnerable.

Freedman

When the Tsarist tyranny fell, devoured, like Herod, by worms, there was a vacant throne, filled for a time by men who chattered into the abyss and recoiled in panic from the challenge of great events. Lenin was cast in a different mould. The misfortunes of Russia became his opportunities and he seized power with a ruthless grip.

If Trotsky was the Carnot of the Russian revolution, the organizer of victory, Lenin was its Robespierre, the philosopher of victory and the implacable hammer of all enemies. It is the enduring misery of Russia that it never had a Danton to give majesty to its victory and moral purpose to its revolution.

Yet in some strange way Lenin is not altogether a figure of iron. He is touched and ennobled by human sympathy. He had tears for the poor as well as hatred for the rich.

In the anarchy and brutality which shook Russia after the Soviet revolution, he found time to worry over the fate of helpless peasants and workers. He sometimes worked long into the night, trying to deal with this personal wreckage that had accidentally drifted to his attention. Not even the pleas of his colleagues nor the commands of his doctors could divert Lenin from these self-imposed labors.

It is not a mystery or an accident that Lenin alone, among the heroes of the revolution, has been enthroned in the hearts of the Russian people.

But he never had any message for a free people. During his years of exile in London, where his two chief loyalties were the reading room in the British Museum and Karl Marx's grave at Highgate, he used to walk about the streets counting the frayed trousers, confident that human misery would produce a class war. How could Lenin ever hope to understand a country like England?

The first Russian parliament met in 1905; the British parliament had its rough beginnings in 1265. More than six centuries of experience separated England and Russia in the difficult arts of self-government.

At the height of the British general strike in 1926, the largest stadium in London was filled with a crowd of happy citizens come to see a soccer match between two teams drawn from the ranks of the strikers and the police. England was an enigma to Lenin because it mocked the dogmas of Marx. As for America, he tried to atone for the shallowness of his judgment by the violence of his invective.

In Lenin's hands the doctrines of Communism became thunderbolts to hurl at the capitalist world and formulas for the seizure of power in weak states. His evil success can be measured in the countries now caught in the bondage of Communism.

Without the terrible suffering imposed on Russia in the first World War, there never would have been a Communist revolution. Lenin himself was surprised by the sudden emergence of revolutionary conditions. But he revealed his astonishing genius by the speed and wisdom with which he bent this torrent of ruthless events to his own purposes.

It is as a strategist of revolutionary action, rather than as an analyst of social and economic conditions, that Lenin towers into his enduring greatness as a maker of history.

Where smaller communists were content to echo the dogmas of Marx and to be the slaves of his doctrines, Lenin invented flexible formulas able to adjust themselves to conditions never dreamed of when the Marxist creed first was formulated. There has been nothing like it in the history of thought. It is as if Machiavelli were to interpret St. Paul.

When we are confused and challenged by the twistings and turnings of Soviet policy, we are merely dealing with Lenin's disciples who are trying to apply the dexterous duplicities of their master.

The first victims of the Communist revolution were the Russian people themselves. For valiant generations they had battled in vain for reform and freedom. It is a tragedy almost without parallel that this historic struggle should have ended in the somber tyranny of Communist power.

Measured by achievements, Lenin is one of the supreme men in history. Measured by ideals, he is a primitive brute compared with Jefferson and Lincoln. We can greet his memory, embattled yet heroic, on this anniversary day but we shall look to more congenial names for inspiration and guidance.

As Our Readers See It

Not Too Subtle

On January 16 I heard and watched with amusement not untinged with horror visiting Governor of Alabama George Wallace's not too subtle attempt to brainwash a University of Victoria, student audience.

First he appealed to the snobbery inherent in too many of us by referring to the common heritage of English, Irish and Scotch in presumably well-bred Victorians and Alabamans, not realizing apparently Victoria today is a gorgeous population mulligan of several colors and a dozen different races.

Then he gave a neat little stiletto jab at the underside of Canadian tolerance by suggesting that if we were so all-fired sympathetic to Negroes why didn't we alter our immigration laws to admit them in large numbers, utterly ignoring the fact Negroes didn't come willingly to the Confederacy. They were hijacked and brought in hell-holes of ships, kept as slaves in compounds as noisome as any in Communist Russia to work as slaves and make Alabamans wealthy. They've had to fight in all sorts of ways towards education and freedom.

I bet Mr. Wallace's favorite hymn is "The rich man in his castle, the poor man at his gate, God made them high (white) or lowly (black) and ordered their estate." GWEN CASH.

Open an' Shut

Oh! to be a barber in this funny play of openin' an' closin' on any given day. If Gov'mint an' Council would cut the ruddy fuss an' stay out o' biz'ness an' leave it all to us. We'd show 'em we can fight all day an' slyly snip and strop. While rainin' in six bucks an' hour; so let the matter drop. CLARENCE GOODE.

Disturbed

There seems to be a number of disturbing things going on in Canada today. For instance, the cuts in the forces, the bringing in of nuclear arms, and the question of who is to have control of them, the proposed numbering of all workers, the really unprecedented salary increases for members of Parliament, and still larger, perhaps, to some civil servants. Is there a reason behind these moves?

In the current issue of the British paper Intelligence Digest is suggested similar disturbing moves in the U.S.A. Could there be collusion between the U.S.A. and Canadian establishments, looking towards One World Government?

Simple and Sincere

I would like to offer a very simple but sincere thank you to everyone who helped this year's Christmas Seal campaign.

May I also take this opportunity to thank the most important people of all—those who contribute. Thanks to you, the mobile clinics will continue to provide free TB skin tests and chest X-rays, the medical research and other programs will continue to be supported.

M. ALICE KIMMITT
Chairman, Victoria Christmas Seal Committee.

Sounds Like a Steamboat

Will the gentleman who took exception to the excellent article by Arthur Maye about English titles in Canada say why it is that when you have a title in Canada (which I once had) you are often mistaken for a coastal vessel?

It's really less embarrassing to be yours truly.

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

A conundrum for any Member of Parliament is his relationship with federal officials in his riding. We should get some light on the puzzle in '64. On Dec. 30, the government appointed Judge Harold Pope of Moose Jaw as commissioner to inquire into the dismissal of a George Walker from a post as district supervisor for the Prairie Farm Assistance Administration and into alleged irregularities in processing claims under PFAA relative to the '62 Saskatchewan crop.

Grit Machine

PFAA is big business in dollar terms. From '33 to '63 PFAA distributed close to $113 million in Saskatchewan. About half this came from a levy on the farmer, the rest from the consolidated revenue fund, i.e., from all of us. For the crop year of 1961-62, Saskatchewan got $37 million dollars. In other words, a lot of cheques went out to farmers during the pre-election time. The maximum any one farmer can get is $800.

Naturally non-Tories, Liberals in particular, have been very suspicious of these many payments in Saskatchewan. It is more than fear of libel and slander that keeps us from getting realistic judgments on the ethics and practices of politicians, during their careers. We take for granted that men in power will "doctor" or lever affairs to their own partisan advantage. The late James Gardiner dominated Prairie politics from '35 to '37 as minister of agriculture in the Liberal governments. He was the author of PFAA in 1939.

Be they Grits, Tories, CCF or Social Crediters, every Prairie politician I have talked with has labelled Gardiner as one who manned the Liberal organization on the Prairies with employees of his department, particularly those who worked for the Prairie Farm Assistance Administration.

Odd Man In

This was not a scandal; it was a political fact of life. By '57 it had built up a seething resentment against the Liberals and Gardiner. This explains, perhaps as much as Alvin's popularity and policies, why the Liberals fared and fare poorly there. The Prairies had a surfeit of this kind of organization and Liberalism.

An imperative chore for the Diefenbaker government was the break-up of the Gardiner political machine. As I get it, real progress was not made until Hamilton replaced Douglas Harkness as minister of agriculture. When Alvin mutters now about the "establishment" being Grit and so hard to move, he is thinking of his difficult remaking of the Gardiner apparatus. His chief adviser in the chore was Roy Faibish, a slight, elfish, busy and bright egghead. Faibish recast PFAA so that it was more responsive to the Members of Parliament than to either local party strongmen or federal officials. All but one of the Prairie MPs were Tories. The odd man, Hazen Argue, was given the chance by Faibish to put men up for appointments to PFAA. Suspicious as Argue was that a Hamilton machine was succeeding the Gardiner one, he often told me that PFAA under the Tories was a lot cleaner.

The inquiry of Judge Pope came on us quickly. Jack McIntosh had asked Minister Harry Hays in the House for an explanation of the firing of PFAA supervisor Walker. Hays was brutal as usual. He suggested Walker was incompetent, that he refused to obey his boss, that he was the creature of Mr. McIntosh. Mr. McIntosh is a very bristly chap, perhaps the most independent MP in the House. He scarcely ever attends Conservative caucus meetings. His outspoken support for Doug Harkness has alienated him from the chief. He is so frank that he has to be honest.

Blunt Mr. Hays was met head on by blunt Mr. McIntosh. A McIntosh claim of privilege led to the reference of the matter to the House committee on privileges and elections. Here Mr. Hays backed down on his allegations about McIntosh and said that he would like an inquiry into the whole question of PFAA in 1962 in Swift Current.

'Let It Come'

Through seven meetings the committee wrangled warily, with both Tory and Liberal backbenchers skirmishing much more craftily than either Hays or McIntosh. It seems the Liberals felt that an inquiry of the right kind, for the right period, might open a can of worms which would hurt the golden one, Alvin Hamilton. Some Tories acted as though an inquiry would be great, if it led to a comparison of methods during their regime and that of the infamous Gardiner.

Finally, the committee recommended an independent inquiry into Walker's dismissal and the alleged irregularities of the '62 crop year. A strange thing that a committee designed to check into a question of privilege (i.e., into a personal insult) ends up asking for an investigation into a phase of the department of agriculture.

Obviously, Mr. Hayes believes the inquiry cannot hurt the government. At the moment he is hipped on non-partisanship and "no patronage" in his department. Mr. McIntosh has told me that he has nothing to hide. Alvin Hamilton is blithe about it all. He knows that the farmers know that he ran PFAA and everything else in Agriculture for the benefit of farmers as a whole. Roy Faibish now works for the CBC. He cannot say much. When I asked him about an inquiry a joy came into his voice: "Let it come."

I am sure that Alvin will come out of it all smelling like roses to the Prairie folk. The more constructive part of the inquiry and its analysis should come on the role of the Member of Parliament in his riding and with federal officials. I am so certain of Mr. McIntosh's integrity that the judgment will have to be on the practicality or efficacy of the MP's role, not on the corrupt nature of it.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

It's Catalogue Time Again

Looking through the various seed catalogues arriving now, more than one difficulty is immediately apparent for gardeners putting in their first garden this year.

Among the vegetables, for instance, curly kale, which can be grown and used all winter straight from the garden, is listed as borecole in some catalogues.

Garden peas are divided into round seeded kinds, which are sown in late fall or in February, and wrinkled, sown from March into May.

Broad beans are a delicious crop for newcomers to try, for they are seldom seen elsewhere in Canada. The pods are grown to a size where the beans can just be felt inside. It is the young inside beans which are removed for cooking. February is a good sowing time. In a rich soil, beans may be picked by the end of May, and continue into June.

French beans are, generally, the bush bean types, though climbing French are sometimes listed. The bush kinds may be either green or waxy gold in color. They produce a crop much earlier than the runner beans, which, however, are excellent for picking from August until frost. The Scarlet Runner has, in the opinion of many connoisseurs, no equal for delicacy of flavor.

Broccoli is a heading which may cover white cauliflowers for various times of the year, and also the purple or green sprouting varieties with which we are perhaps more familiar. The English vegetable marrow is often included in a list of squash seed; eggplant may be found under aubergine, the original French name of this delicious vegetable; and Chinese cabbage is listed in most catalogues.

This last is well worth sowing in summer for an early winter delicacy. It prefers the cooler season for heading.

American cress, sometimes listed as land cress, is a counterpart of water cress, but is a perennial plant easily grown in any garden as a row crop. The flavor is the same as watercress. The dark green leaves are available for picking almost any month of the year, especially if a rich soil is provided and constant picking is practiced.

Seed production should be avoided, for the seeds scatter in surrounding soil and turn up unexpectedly throughout spring and summer.

Topsoil Dumped

LONDON (AP)—Thousands of tons of topsoil from fields in Kent is to be dumped in the Atlantic because it is over-dosed with weedkiller. The decision, announced by the ministry of agriculture, followed tests on the fields by two cows. Both died. The poison got to the land-as fumes from a factory making weed and rat killers. The factory stopped production last year.

Here's why the Canadian Volkswagen has two heaters.

Canadian winters.

For ten years we've been fighting them with one heater.

In some areas it wasn't such a hot idea. So we've added a second heater. It's a completely separate unit that doesn't get its warmth from the engine.

It means that on cold mornings you can heat the car faster. From twenty below to seventy above in minutes. Even while the engine is idling.

So, if you hear a rumour that Old Faithful is full of hot air, it's true.

The cars we build for Canada also get a heavy duty battery. (Don't buy a garage. Buy a Volkswagen.)

There are other reasons why the VW is a winter wonder.

Take traction.

The Volkswagen doesn't slip as easily as other cars because the engine is in the rear. It puts 200 pounds of weight where it does the most good: over the drive wheels.

To protect it against salt and sand and slush, the Volkswagen wears four coats of paint. Everywhere. Even under the dashboard where it doesn't need it.

And you'll never buy anti-freeze because the engine is cooled with air instead of water.

Now you know why we sell so many of our cars in Canada. Canadian winters.

City's First Trailer Club Names Slate

Charles Cameron, 1568 Oakcrest, was elected president Friday of the first trailer owners' club to be formed in the city.

Others named to the executive were Alf Rumsby, vice-president, and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Lowndes, treasurer and secretary, respectively.

About 45 trailer owners attended the club's first meeting. "We want to be a Canadian club and affiliate with similar clubs in eastern Canada," said Mr. Cameron.

"Owners of any type of trailers, including campers, are eligible for membership."

SEEK FACILITIES

He said the purpose of a travelling trailer club is to promote good fellowship, safety and courtesy among the trailering public.

"We also encourage tourism and see that good facilities are provided for trailer owners."

Next meeting of the club will be held in about four weeks' time when a constitution will be put before the membership.

The AARA suggested the motorist dealing with brand-name stations may be overcharged for his gasoline so other customers can be undercharged.

The "growing distress and alarming turnover" in the service station industry are basically due to oil company policies, the association said in a statement signed by D. A. Achilles, AARA secretary-manager.

The association's brief discussed present conditions in the industry and the oil companies' policies which, the AARA says, are believed to cause them.

67 BY '67 MATHER'S PENSION AIM

LADNER (CP)—A "67 by '67" campaign was launched during the weekend by Barry Mather, NDP MP for New Westminster in an address to a party rally here.

The figures refer to the qualifying age for federal old age pensions—now 70—and Canada's centennial year, 1967.

Mr. Mather said he would campaign in Parliament to make the qualifying old age pension age 67 by 1967, "as a gesture to our older citizens."

He said that many people over 65 sit and "eat their homes away" while waiting to reach the pension-qualifying age of 70.

'HUGE AREAS SOUGHT'

Truck Loggers Seek Halt To Pulp-Harvest Licences

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Truck Loggers' Association will ask the provincial government to stop granting pulp-harvesting licences.

The resolution passed at the annual meeting of the association said the group "has been consistently opposed . . . to the granting of the monopolistic and noncompetitive rights to any large tracts of crown timber, whether it be by way of a forest-management licence, a tree farm licence or a pulp-harvesting licence."

It added: "This association views with alarm the increasing number of applications for pulp harvesting licences and the huge harvesting areas that are being sought . . ."

"It is the considered opinion of this association that the law of supply and demand will take care of the raw material supply required by any pulp plant, provided a fair price is paid to logging operations for the material."

FAIR PRICE

The association passed another resolution asking Lands and Forests Minister Ray Wiliston to set up machinery to establish a "fair contract price" for work done for holders of tree-farm licences.

They asked that the price be based on Forest Service appraisal figures instead of being set by the tree farm licence holder.

Many tree farm licences have clauses stipulating that 30 to 50 per cent of logging in the licence area must be farmed out to independent operators.

TERMED INEQUITABLE

The association said "it feels that to leave the setting of the contract price in the hands of the tree-farm licence holder is impractical and inequitable . . ."

Storm Saves Goalie

Don Simmons Bounces Back, Blanks Hawks

A grounded jet aircraft probably saved Don Simmons from unemployment in the National Hockey League.

Shellshocked, embarrassed and perilously close to losing his job as second man in Toronto Maple Leafs' goaltending platoon, Simmons was given a reprieve Sunday and responded with a 2-0 shutout over the League-leading Chicago Black Hawks.

Saturday night, the last-place Boston Bruins routed Simmons and the Leafs 11-0, the worst whitewash job in 20 years in the NHL.

A United Airlines flight carrying the Western Hockey League's leading goalie, Al Miller, of the Denver Invaders, circled Chicago for an hour awaiting weather clearance to land and eventually was forced to return to Des Moines, Iowa, where it was grounded with a jammed fuel pump.

Miller didn't make it for the game. Simmons dressed and stopped 27 drives for the shutout, including three big saves off Bobby Hull within a minute in the second period.

BOWER SIDELINED

Saturday night had been Simmons fourth game since regular goalie Johnny Bower was sidelined with an injured hand. In the four games, he allowed 22 goals.

Miller, a 14-year veteran of the minor pro leagues, may accompany Maple Leafs back to Toronto, but Simmons' play practically wiped out any chance Miller will add to his NHL service. He has played six NHL games, all as a stand-in for Simmons, with the 1957-58 Bruins.

Montreal Canadiens, after handing the powerful Hawks two defeats earlier in the week, bowed 2-0 to Detroit Red Wings Saturday night and settled for a 1-1 tie in Boston Sunday night. The other Saturday night game saw Hawks snap out of a slump with a 6-1 victory over New York, but Rangers came back Sunday night to defeat Detroit 3-1.

Leafs were inept with a capital "T" as Bruins overwhelmed them at Toronto, scoring six times in the first period, once in the second and four times in the final round.

THREE EACH

Dean Prentice and Andy Heberton each scored three goals, Murray Oliver got two and singles went to Johnny Bucyk, Gary Dornhoefer and Guy Gendron. Bruins were cheered lustily and Leafs booed by a Toronto crowd of 14,011 that watched its heroes run into each other, fail to clear the puck, leave attackers uncovered and even pass the puck to Bruins.

Simmons managed to stop 27 shots but the rest of them were mainly short, low blasts fired into the corners while the goalie was at the other side or on his back.

It was a different Simmons and a different team of Leafs Sunday night in Chicago as they rebounded on second-period goals by Billy Harris and Ron Stewart.

Canadiens ran into a hot Terry Sawchuk Saturday night and the 34-year-old Detroit goalie made 35 saves to record the 95th shutout of his career—a record that eclipsed the old mark of 94 held by the late George Hainsworth, who played with Montreal and Toronto 30 years ago.

SHEER THEFT

Sawchuk's work was exceptional, but some of his saves were sheer theft and a dash of good luck. He stopped drives he didn't see and watched shots bounce off the goalposts.

But, on the other hand, he earned his fourth whitewash of the season with his classic leg-kicking stops and major saves on at least three breakaways.

Sunday night, Canadiens collided with another dedicated netminder in Boston. Fresh from his 11-0 blanking of Leafs, Ed Johnston was well-prepared for the Montreal onslaught.

The teams traded early goals, Boston's by Johnny Bucyk in the first period and Montreal's from Gilles Tremblay in the second, before Johnston turned on the heroics.

He made six key saves in the dying minutes, including a stop on Henri Richard as he fell into the net. The Bruins goalie knocked down the hard drive and the puck rolled through the crease, but did not cross the goal line.

Rangers returned from their 6-1 loss in Chicago to dump Detroit 3-1 Sunday night.

Schadalee Brothers Spark Polo Leaders

Brothers Kees and Martin Schadalee scored three and two goals respectively to spark unbeaten VASC Olympians to an 8-1 victory over YMCA in a men's Water Polo League game Sunday.

Navy doubled Royal Roads, 8-4, while Victoria University won by default from last-place Divers.

WINNERS IN THE CIRCLE

Rain-soaked but happy, pro Tony Lema shakes hands with amateur partner Col. John Durkin as Bing Crosby voices congratulations after finish of Crosby's National Pro-Amateur golf championship at Pebble Beach, Calif. Lema survived wind and rain in Sunday's final round to collect $5,800 for winning pro division with four-round tally of 284. Tony picked up another $3,000 as he and Durkin finished second in pro-am competition. (AP Wire-photo.)

AL BALDING

Balding Blows to 88; Lema Wins Crosby Cash

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (CP)—Al Balding of Toronto blew a chance for a big payday in the Bing Crosby golf tournament Sunday when he ballooned to a nightmarish 16 over par in the final 18 holes.

At one point in the round of frustration for the tournament's early leader, Balding exclaimed in disgust: "I may never finish this thing. I just may never finish."

Balding, 39, had just slammed a ball over a cliff, typical of his play for the day. The tournament, with its $5,800 first place money, was won by Tony Lema who went into the final round tied with Balding. The Toronto golfer ended up with $95, lowest given any professional.

Actually, Lema didn't have to beat the rest of the field because the golfers beat themselves in the bizarre final round which included Bob Rosburg's six-putt green and Bob Harrison's score of 100 in the blustery winds and rain which swept Pebble Beach golf course.

Lema's closing round of 76 was four over par.

Gay Brewer did manage a 73 and Bo Winger a 75 on the final day. But they were far behind at the start and could get up only for a second-place tie, three strokes behind. No one equalled par 72.

KNUDSON WON $1,620

Top money-winner among the Canadians was George Knudson of Toronto who won $1,650 with his 72-76-68-73—289. Al Johnston of Montreal won $375, finishing with 71-74-74-75—294. Stan Leonard of Vancouver failed to survive Friday's cutoff.

Balding, with his 66 the first day and his 67 the second day, appeared unbeatable at one point, although he had a 75 on the third round for the tie with Lema he was still in a strong position for top money. But his trouble started early when he hit into a bunker on the second hole and went one over par for a second time at the fourth when the wind carried his ball into a trap.

Then came the seventh when he went three-over on a par three. He hit his first shot into the ocean and the second into a trap.

Lema also won $3,000 for taking second in pro-amateur competition with partner Col. John Durkin, an army chaplain. He picked up $1,000 Friday for the lowest pro-am score of the second round.

Mike Fethick, of Glen Head, N.Y., picked up the $4,000 top money for his pro-am victory with Charles Seaver, of Fresno, Calif., with a best ball 258, one better than Lema-Durkin.

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—Alain Calmat of France dazzled the judges with an acrobatic free-skating program Saturday night to retain his European figure skating championship for men.

Manfred Schneldorfer of West Germany was second.

Chinooks Make It A Double Victory

One won't show in the records but you can chalk up two victories for Victoria Chinooks.

The win that goes down in the Inter-City Junior Basketball League books is the 86-68 trimming Chinooks handed out to North Shore Mountaineers Saturday night at Central Junior High School.

It was the 11th triumph in 14 starts for the Chinooks, who had already clinched first place. After struggling to grab a 33-32 lead at the half, Chinooks out-classed the Mountaineers in the second half to make it look easy.

The biggest victory for the Chinooks Saturday was their first basketball jamboree, which preceded the tussle with the Mountaineers. Well-planned and well-conducted, the jamboree helped attract more than 1,000 fans to the gymnasium and turned out to be the city's happiest hoop night in several seasons.

SPECIAL GUESTS

Players from pint-sized pre-midgits to towering juveniles demonstrated skill and enthusiasm as 36 teams from local leagues had their turn on the floor in a series of eight-minute games.

Special guests were former players who helped bring Canadian senior crowns to Victoria

Win or Forget It Chiefs' Position

Weak Shooting Costly; Crucial Game on Friday

VANCOUVER—Victoria Haida Chiefs get a second chance to squeeze into the Inter-City Men's Basketball League playoffs.

They won't get a third try.

Chiefs flubbed one big chance Sunday, dropping a 74-65 decision to Vancouver Bakers.

Bakers, on the last game of the regular schedule, thus pulled into a tie with Victoria on the fourth and final playoff rung.

The teams meet again Friday in Victoria—at "the best available gym"—in a sudden-death match for the last playoff berth. Winners meet Alberni Athletics in a best-of-five semifinal series.

The other semi will match Harlem Nocturnes and Vancouver Grocers.

SADLER'S LOSS HURT

Grocers took a 72-51 decision over Harlems in the second half of Sunday's doubleheader at Vancouver's Exhibition Gardens.

Bakers won Sunday's crucial game by building up a 48-31 lead in the first half. Chiefs, showing better form in the second half, managed to close the gap to two points, 64-62, with four minutes left.

But Victoria's hopes for a comeback suffered a big blow when Barry Sadler fouled out. Sadler and rookie Jim Cunningham were key sparks in Chiefs' drive to pull even.

"TERRIBLE DISPLAY"

Sadler stood out in rebounding as Chiefs outgunned Bakers 59-30 in that department.

Woeful shooting proved to be Victoria's downfall.

"We dropped only 25 per cent of our shots in the entire game," moaned coach Ken King. "It was a terrible display."

"I don't like chewing out my boys, but I was never so angry as I was at half-time."

Norris Martin topped Chiefs with 26 while Pete Simmonds had 19. Cunningham, with five, was the only other player to count any points for Chiefs as King went most of the way with seven men.

Standout for Bakers was Mike Potkonjak, who pumped in 18 of his 27 points in the first half.

Bakers—Latta 5, Penney 7, McCallum 10, Gower 14, Williamson 5, Potkonjak 27, Heathcote 2, Carter 4, Mueller. Total 74.

Chiefs—Martin 26, Wilson 6, Lorimer 15, Steele, Cunningham 5, Simmonds 19, Sadler, Devlin, McCulloch, Gilbert, Galloway, Spotswood. Total 65.

Harper Hopes Cut in Half As Glen Loses

The defending B.C. men's curling champion has fallen, but the Glen Harper household still stands a chance of attracting another piece of provincial silverware.

That's because Harper's wife, Marg, is still going.

Both went in opposite directions Sunday.

Mrs. Harper and her Duncan clubmates became the new Island women's champions by scoring a never-in-doubt 9-5 victory over Evelyn Sturzer's Alberni rink in a sudden-death playoff at Nanaimo.

The playoff was forced when the two quartets finished the regulation six rounds with identical 5-1 records Saturday. Mrs. Harper, who had beaten the Sturzer foursome in a key game earlier in the day, suffered her only setback when she was upset by Esquimalt's Marg Brilinger, 9-6.

Late Pass Trips East

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Quarterback Cotton Davidson of Oakland Raiders connected with his pass-catching teammate, Art Powell, on a 25-yard scoring strike with 43 seconds remaining to give the West a 27-24 triumph over the East in the American Football League's annual All-Star game Sunday.

Trailing 24-3 at the half as the East's Babe Parilli of Boston put on a brilliant passing show, the West rushed back into contention in the third quarter on sparkling long range plays that produced two touchdowns and closed the margin to 24-17.

Oaks Stretch Hoop Skein To Six Games

Oak Bay High School's basketball snowball continued to roll Saturday night as the Oaks thumped North Vancouver 53-36 to push their record to six in a row against mainland competition.

Bob Burrows led the unbeaten Oaks to victory with 14 points.

Host club for Saturday's doubleheader, the Victoria High Totems, came from behind to edge West Vancouver 38-30 in a game which had the fans continually on the edges of their seats.

Doug Gregory paced the Totems with 18 points and was followed by Ron Stubbings, with 15, and Barney Spaven, with 14.

On Friday, Oak Bay beat West Van 61-40 and Totems trounced North Van 52-25.

Jerome Plans Track Return

TORONTO (CP)—Harry Jerome, co-holder of the 100-metre world record, will compete in the 50-yard dash at the Maple Leaf indoor games here Friday.

The competition will be the first for Jerome since 1962 when he tore a thigh muscle at the British Empire Games at Perth, Australia.

Schlodt Stays At Washington

SEATTLE (AP)—Bob Schlodt says he has decided to remain on the coaching staff at the University of Washington.

The 1959 all-America quarterback had been offered a post as assistant to Bert Clark, newly-hired as head football coach at Washington State University.

"I'm just a Husky at heart," Schlodt said.

At rain-splattered Santa Anita Saturday Church came up with brilliant back-to-back rides in a pair of $25,000 stakes... Church guided Mr. Consistency past the final steeple in the $25,000 San Marcos, came from last place to win the Santa Maria with Curious Clover at a whopping $73.20 for $2... ## Hunt, Massey Score Doubles Favorites came through as expected, and Bob Hunt and Jean Massey scored double victories in the open event finals of the city badminton championships Saturday night.

Hunt, defending champ, retained the men's singles title with a 15-9, 15-3 triumph over Lloyd Park. The slick-shooting Hunt then packed off a share of the men's doubles with Ed Hedley. The defending titleholders scored a 15-9, 18-14 victory over veterans George Lane and Eric Hibberson.
Miss Massey shared in both doubles victories, teaming with Elsie Radford for a 15-12, 17-14 decision over Joyce Folbigg and Kay Woodland, and later with Park in the mixed doubles final. The Massey-Park combination downed Lane and Muriel Knott, 17-16, 15-12.
Flight results follow:
Ladies' "B" flight doubles, Barbara Ford and Nan Patterson defeated Peggy Wright and Ann Barr, 3-13, 15-3, 15-3.

Ray Gregoire added Cougars' clincher.

Ninth Straight For Hot Bakers

The weekend's wind and rain blew out most of the area's soccer activity, but it couldn't douse the red-hot march of Brodie's Bakery.

Scots Wreck Kiwis' Dream

EDINBURGH (AP) — Scotland held the powerful New Zealand Rugby Union team — the All-Blacks — to a scoreless tie at Murrayfield Stadium Saturday.

A crowd of 70,000 saw the Scots rob the All-Blacks of the chance to make history by beating all four British national teams. They had already defeated Ireland, Wales and England.

In the only District League game played, Brodies downed Canadian Scottish 5-1 to move to within a point of the first division lead.

It was Brodies' ninth straight win and extended the Bakers' undefeated streak to 15 games.

Ralph Marwood led the goal-getters with two. Geoff Hill, Ted Smith and Alan Glen added one apiece.

Stan Wiseman scored for Scots on a penalty kick.

Victoria Forced To Share Fourth

North Shore lit up their play-off prospects in Pacific Coast Soccer League at Seattle, Sunday, with a 2-1 storm-swept victory over Seattle Hungarians.

Shores' victory, on goals by Metro Gerela and Hardy Teja, moved them into a fourth-place tie with Victoria United. North Shore, however, has a game in hand over Victoria, idle at the weekend.

At Vancouver, also playing in appalling conditions, Columbus walloped last-place Wallace 7-1 to move to within one point of the lead.

In the only other game played, Greg Arnett scored on a penalty kick to give third-ranked Firefighters a fortunate 1-0 victory over New Westminster Royals on Saturday.

Carlo Franco scored three goals to lead Columbus' one-sided attack, while Bob Smith rapped in two.

In a Swim Or In Gym, Y Teams Win

Victoria YMCA teams and athletes continue to cut an impressive swath in sports circles.

The Y's swim team scored a lopsided 132-25 victory over Everett in a dual meet in the Washington city. Everett failed to place a swimmer higher than third in any event.

Standout for the Victoria team was 12-year-old Vito Dunford. Unbeaten in a race this season, he won three events Saturday.

The Y's gym team, operating on home floor, defeated Campbell River's 20-member team 378-251. It marks the sixth straight victory for the Y gymnastic team.

Three Civic Unions To Seek $230,000

WOMAN DIES AFTER FALL

An 80-year-old woman died this morning of injuries received Friday when she fell down the steps into the basement of her home.

Mrs. Amelia Selby, 2505 Empire, had only moved into the house a week ago.

Mrs. Selby and her husband, her sole survivor, had lived in Victoria for 34 years. She was born in England.

Funeral arrangements have been tentatively made for Wednesday morning.

Five-Month Term Penalty For Impaired

Magistrate William Ostler today carried out the threat he made last week to get tough with impaired drivers.

He sent one man to jail for five months for his third offence.

Police Demands To Come

Three of the four civic unions have made contract requests that would cost $230,000—almost 2½ mills—to meet this year, city manager Dennis Young said today.

However, the city for the first time this year plans to make counter-demands to all the unions which would reduce the annual wage bill. These have not been revealed yet.

The three unions already negotiating with city officials represent 90 firemen, 175 "inside staff" employees and 240 "outside staff" employees.

POLICE TOO

The 108-member policemen's union also has submitted new contract requests but these were not immediately available.

Mr. Young said the biggest increase is sought by the firemen's union in a combined shorter work week—higher pay package that would increase the average hourly earnings by almost 16 per cent.

The inside staff seeks a three-year contract providing a 5 per cent wage increase for each year, as well as other benefits.

The outside staff has asked for a 15 cents an hour raise in a one-year contract or a 15 cents and 10 cents sequence in a two-year contract.

MORE MEN

Mr. Young said the bill for meeting all of the firemen's requests would run to an additional $87,500 this year.

He said 12 more men would have to be hired to maintain present manpower per shift to meet a union demand that the work week be reduced from 48 to 42 hours.

In addition, the union seeks wage parity with Vancouver which would add 1.43 per cent to the $488 monthly basic wage for a fourth-class fireman, totaling $523 when all fringe benefits are added up.

The inside union requests would cost $34,000 more this year but would include built-in increases for the next two years.

Requested is a 5 per cent wage increase across the board for each of the next three years, a half-hour earlier closing time (at 4:30 p.m.) for the roughly six months of daylight saving time in place of the present three-month summer period and improvements in the holiday and overtime pay clauses.

15 CENTS

The outside staff—which has a standard $2.04 hourly wage for laborers—has requested a .15 cents increase as well as holiday schedule improvements in a one-year contract.

Meeting this would cost the city $89,000 this year.

Mr. Young said negotiations are on the point of entering the actual bargaining stage.

SPEAKING TONIGHT in University of Victoria auditorium on Lansdowne campus is Prof. W. S. Livingston of University of Texas. An authority on federalism and constitutional amendments, his subject will be "Future of Government in the U.S." The talk, open to the public, starts at 8:15. The professor addressed a political science forum at noon.

Girl Talks, Fights Way To Freedom

A 20-year-old former Duncan girl now working here tricked a man into letting her go after he dragged her into a dark alley off Bay Street Saturday evening.

Lisa Binette, 2560 Vancouver, said her attacker pulled her into the alley beside the Armoury and threatened her: "Better not scream or I'll kill you."

The man made advances to her in the alley, she said, and she told him to stop and they could go to her apartment. She said he wouldn't believe her at first and said she would scream if he let go.

BROKE FREE

She promised him not to, and persuaded him to go to the street with her. He tried to hold on but when they got out to Bay Street she broke free, screamed and ran toward Douglas Street.

The man chased her across Douglas to the Brito Spot Drive-In. From there police were called.

Miss Binette described her attacker as about 26 years old, six feet tall, wearing a long gray coat and light trousers. He had light colored hair, she said.

'Phone Call' Costs $244

A city store owner allowed two men to make a $244 "telephone" call Saturday without knowing it.

The men asked permission to use the phone at Tike N Teen Shoe Store, 811 Fort. One went to the back of the store and made the call. Then both left.

Half an hour later it was discovered that $244 was missing from the cash register near the telephone.

Free-Suite Scheme For Janitors 'Out'

The B.C. government has dropped plans to make apartment owners provide free suites for resident janitors.

The Labor Department today rescinded an order which it made last November, but which was stalled because of protests from apartment owners and janitors.

The order, which was to have come into effect Jan. 1, was protested by more than 300 people at a hearing, Labor Minister Leslie Peterson said.

The owners were balking at providing free accommodation as well as paying wages to janitors.

They were afraid, a labor official said, that the janitors would demand penthouses.

Some janitors feared that apartment owners would fire them and hire commercial firms to clean apartments, he added.

MINIMUM WAGES

A new order, effective March 1, provides new minimum wages for janitors based on the number of suites they look after, a system which had been in use since 1957.

Resident janitors in blocks of five to seven suites will now get a minimum of $72 a month instead of $50.

The maximum rate, for more than 50 suites, will be $336 a month, instead of $265.

Non-resident janitors, who are paid by the hour, will get a boost in minimums from 75 cents to $1 an hour.

The new order also gives the Industrial Relations Board the power to regulate the rent charged to janitors if it is proved unreasonable.

CROWDS packing the floor and galleries of Metropolitan United Church during Sunday's interdenominational service prayed for a fulfillment of the scriptural words "That they may all be one."

1,500 ATTEND INTERDENOMINATIONAL PRAYER MEETING

'Unity Is the Fruit of Redemption'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A growing spirit of unity among Victoria churches has been noted since Christmas Eve when church leaders met informally in a private chapel adjoining the residence of Anglican Archbishop Harold Sexton.

On Sunday afternoon that spirit was magnified many hundreds of times at an inter-church service which Times church editor Norman Cribbens writes about here.

History was made in Victoria Sunday afternoon when 1,500 ministers and followers of most city churches, including Roman Catholics, defied wind and rain to attend an interdenominational prayer meeting in Metropolitan United Church.

It was a solemn occasion, touched with emotion, for never before had so many members of so many churches gathered together in a mass prayer for Christian unity.

The old Rhennish-style church at the corner of Quadra and Pandora was crowded to capacity when the service began at 3 p.m., but late-comers continued to arrive and by 3:15 p.m. 200 more had taken up standing room around the floor and galleries.

"This is indeed an historic occasion," said Rev. Father A. J. McDonald, speaking for the Roman Catholic diocese of Victoria.

"We are slowly learning that peace and true Christian brotherhood can be had only through Christ; Unity is the fruit of redemption and it is born of love."

For the Anglican Church, Canon C. Hilary Butler said: "The more unity we achieve the more the world will be ready to believe that God the Father sent his Son to save the world."

The inter-church meeting was held under auspices of the Victoria Council of Churches and the Roman Catholic diocese of Victoria and organized by the council's committee on evangelism and social action.

In a prayer for unity, Rev. H. Gordon Walker, chairman of the committee, and Anglican vicar of St. David-by-the-Sea, Cordova Bay, said:

"For our controversies, sometimes full of narrow-mindedness and lacking in charity towards our Christian brothers, for our harsh judgments, we beseech Thee to pardon us, O Lord."

"For all the culpable violence which has been exercised in the past and is still exercised today against our Christian brothers, we beseech Thee to pardon us, O Lord."

Rev. S. J. Parsons, DD, of Centennial United prayed that Christians should have "the courage to reject all our hidden indifference and mistrust, and our mutual hostility."

The saying of the Lord's Prayer was led by Rev. Julius Bergbusch, Good Shepherd Lutheran, and Rev. A. C. Hamill, Emmanuel Baptist, offered a prayer that "we may all find one another in one and the same love in Jesus Christ, Our Lord."

Scriptures were read by Rev. William Klempa, Gorge Presbyterian; Brigadier Victor Underhill of the Salvation Army, and Very Rev. J. L. W. McLean, St. Andrew's Presbyterian.

In a 10-minute address, Canon Butler of the Anglican Church chose three words from the scriptures—love, authority and unity.

"Those who have not love in their hearts are not living the life of grace. Authority says that love understood in its perfection is more than a human instinct. It is a human instinct controlled by the rational loving spirit of God."

"Unity says to the Christian that, inasmuch as all are one in the Father and Son, then we are all one together. If this oneness is not reflected in the concrete and visible organization through which Christians worship, then there must be something gravely wrong with our love, or with our obedience to Jesus' authority."

Canon Butler said Christians should be "penitential" because of the schisms which had developed among them and because of "the further sins which have helped to perpetuate the divisions."

Yet, he added, each communion feels it must be true to its own honestly-held understanding of Christ's will.

"The dilemma of our differences is insoluble, but with God all things are possible and the way to Christian unity is the way to the centre in Christ . . .

"We can find brotherhood if we recognize Jesus as the brother of us all."

Rev. Father McDonald, wearing the uniform of a Roman Catholic Army Chaplain, took his text from St. John 17, verse 21, "That they may all be one."

"We know that unity for all men is the will of Christ," he said, and today more than at any time in history men long for unity.

"But only when we truly love one another and are willing to suffer and sacrifice for one another will we become one in true Christian brotherhood."

Father McDonald said the ecumenical movement, inspired by Pope John and other Christian leaders, did not mean the abandonment of personal Christian convictions.

"Rather it brings Christians face to face with the divine light of Christ. It urges us to labor side by side in the pursuit of truth. And in that pursuit it may be necessary for us to rededicate ourselves to Christian truth and teaching."

"We are by nature the blood brothers of Jesus Christ and by grace the adopted sons of God."

Statements published in the Victoria Daily Times by Roman Catholic Bishop de Roo, Anglican Archbishop Harold Sexton and other church leaders were quoted by Father McDonald as evidence of "a new climate—a wonderfully different atmosphere in which the love of Christ has gathered us together."

Rev. Gordon Walker said the idea of an inter-church service in Victoria had been born in an atmosphere of goodwill and had developed in that spirit.

"We thank God that such an expression of unity among our Victoria churches has been made possible," he said.

The choir of First United Church, directed by W. H. Gregory, with Mrs. E. M. Gregory at the organ, led the singing of three hymns known to all denominations—The Church's One Foundation, When I Survey the Wondrous Cross, and Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven.

A collection was taken to cover expenses of the service and to aid the work of the Committee on Evangelism and Social Action of the Victoria Council of Churches.

Rev. F. E. H. James, DD, minister of Metropolitan United Church, said he was happy that so many churches had chosen Metropolitan for a united service of worship.

Winds Hit Sudbury II—as Usual

Winds of 40 and 50-mile-an-hour force slammed deepsea tug Sudbury II on Sunday—but it was a normal day for her.

Now about 900 miles from port, she is towing the disabled Greek freighter Elli from Adak in the Aleutian Islands.

She has been beset by heavy winds since she made rendezvous there with the Elli Jan. 11.

Island Tug and Barge Ltd. owners of the Sudbury II, expect her to make port by early next week.

The storm that battered Victoria Sunday evidently did not reach her.

The Elli lost her propeller in the north Pacific and was towed into Adak by a U.S. Navy tug.

Paving, Fencing Mayor's Plan For Arena Area

Mayor R. B. Wilson today said he fervently hopes there will be enough left of a projected $120,000 for acquisition and development of six properties alongside Memorial Arena to permit paving and fencing this year.

"I certainly hope we will be in a position to do so as it would be most desirable," he said.

Earlier, land commissioner Alfred Joyce said the purchase phase of the project is just about sewn up.

"We have acquired four of the properties and the owners of the remaining two already have indicated they will sell to us at satisfactory prices," he said.

Actual figures for the purchases will not be revealed until all six titles are held by the city.

City Hall plans to tear down the buildings and create a 182-car parking lot for the arena which also could double as a midway area for fairs and other outdoor shows.

Ask The Times

Q. What is the purpose of the zip code in the United States? R.E.B.

A. The zip code is used to speed up mail delivery by dividing the country into delivery units, each with its own five-digit number.

To illustrate how the system works, take for example the zip code number 95610:

The "9" means the letter will go anywhere in California, Oregon, Washington, Alaska or Hawaii. The "5" indicates northern California. The "6" is the code number for Sacramento, and the "10" is the Citrus Heights postal zone in that city.

Business firms which have large volumes of mail can ensure speedier delivery by sorting mail into the various zip code zones.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve controversies or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps, antiques, etc. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, address "Ask the Times" Editor, Question and answer will be published daily.

Heirloom Ring Worn by Bride

Her maternal grandmother's wedding ring was "something old" for Joan Evelyn McIlmoyl, Saturday evening when she exchanged marriage vows with Leslie Kenneth Clegghorn.

She wore a strapless, bell-skirted gown of white velvet with nylon chiffon jacket. Only a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom. Her shoulder-length net veil mislaid from a halo of culture pearls. Pink sweetheart roses and white carnations were in her colonial bouquet. Gown was made by the bride's mother.

Rose and white carnations at the altar decorated St. Columba's Anglican Church for the ceremony at which Rev. J. Vickers officiated.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. C. Gilbert McIlmoyl, 4160 North Road, and Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Clegghorn, 550 View Royal Avenue. Mr. McIlmoyl gave his daughter in marriage.

PINK AND BLUE GOWNS
Chiffon over taffeta gowns in pink and blue respectively, with matching lace jackets and ostrich and nylon-veil headpieces were choice of matron of honor, Mrs. O. Hygen and senior bridesmaid, Miss Janet Clegghorn, sister of the groom. Junior bridesmaid, Miss Maureen McIlmoyl, sister of the bride, wore a pink taffeta gown with matching chiffon overskirt. Her headpiece was similar to those worn by the senior attendants.

All three attendants carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Best man was Orville Hygen and ushers were Dermot Hayes-O'Sullivan and Master Rick Clegghorn, brother of the groom. F. R. Hooper proposed the toast at a reception which followed in the home of the bride's parents. A three-tier wedding cake, made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. M. Dye, centred the bride's table. Pink and white streamers and bells completed the decor.

Following a honeymoon trip to Portland and Seattle, the couple will make their home at 3989 Holland Avenue.

The bride's travelling outfit was a sky blue Chanel suit with box-pleated skirt, matching hat, black accessories and white carnation corsage.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. H. Stephen, Vancouver, aunt of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Churchill of Nanaimo.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Most Men In Agreement: Slacks Aren't for Women!

I have been conducting a small survey, questioning some of the men I know about what feminine characteristics attract them and which repel them. While I was given many different answers, a few of them occurred over and over again. These must indicate a more or less universal feeling among men. Today I will give you a few of these with which to test your man-appeal.

1. Men like women who are good company, vivacious and alive, but they dislike the woman who is the life of the party in a loud way. She makes them feel uncomfortable.

2. Men are greatly affected by voices. A high or tense and screechy or overloud voice makes them irritable. They love a soft, musical, feminine voice.

3. I did not find a single man who really thinks that slacks are attractive for the ladies.

4. A man is afraid of a woman who is too possessive. He feels smothered and clings to his independence.

5. A man is suspicious of women who talk about other women.

6. Regardless of what some of the books on manners say, a man likes to be told by his date that she enjoyed his companionship and the entertainment he planned for the evening. After all, men are human and are pleased by appreciation just like anyone else.

7. Men do not like make-up which is too garish or obvious.

8. Few men like the clinging vine type, but practically all of them like to be allowed to protect and extend small courtesies to the woman they are with. It embarrasses them if she lugs her own suitcases and doesn't wait for them to pull out chairs and open doors for her, or acts in other completely independent ways.

9. Most men dislike extremely long fingernails, especially if they are painted red.

10. Men like, most of all, the

Frustrations Behind Exodus of Educated

By PAT DUFOUR

The indifference of Canada towards her citizens in the higher academic brackets is shameful and likely to lead to the mental poverty of the nation.

Dr. Echo Lidster minces no words when she accounts for the heavy flow of Canadians to other "lands of opportunity."

And she takes issue with those who condemn them with the statement that they go to the United States because they get more money.

Says Dr. Lidster, "Money has very little to do with it. Most of those who leave Canada do so after a great deal of soul searching. The main reason they leave is because there's so little opportunity here for them to develop their potential."

"Canada is experiencing great social changes. To deal with these, it's impossible to live off the academic capital of 20 or even 10 years ago. But, Canada has not adapted herself for these changes."

INEFFICIENCY HIDDEN

"When a tradesman loses his value—he's fired. But a professional, because of the nature of his job, can continue working because his ineffectiveness is not so apparent."

Yet, accuses Dr. Lidster, there is little or no help from Canada for those citizens who wish to do graduate work in their various fields.

Dr. Lidster speaks with experience. She received her bachelor degree in agriculture from the University of British Columbia in 1942, and worked for years as the sole staff member for 4H clubs in the provincial department.

In 1958, Dr. Lidster qualified for her master's degree in extension education at Cornell University. It took a great deal of effort for Dr. Lidster to obtain funds for her four years' study at Cornell. Eventually, she received a Princess Alice Scholarship and a grant from UBC's Koerner Foundation fund.

It was while at Cornell that Dr. Lidster found herself turning from the technical field to that of social service.

This trend was increased when, on return to Victoria, she became frustrated by her department's indifference to the needs of 4H work.

LOST BATTLE

"I became tired of battling for staff that never materialized. The policy seemed to be to sustain rather than promote 4H in the province."

Convinced that she had met a "mental dead end," Dr. Lidster headed for the University of Wisconsin, where, after another four years, she received her Ph.D. in adult educational subjects and sociology last June.

Once committed to further study, Dr. Lidster again found herself engaged in a struggle to obtain funds.

"Finally, I was lucky enough to obtain $1,500 from the Canadian Association for Adult Education. This drained them to the last cent—I don't believe that they've had any funds since."

This helped Dr. Lidster through her first year of study. But what of the next three years?

"The second year in Wisconsin I washed dishes and lived off my savings. The third and fourth years were better. I was lucky enough to be given a research assistantship by the university."

FEW GRANTS

Dr. Lidster points up the gap between funds available to American and Canadian students. "In 1961, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics listed 1,200 fellowships and scholarships available to Canadians from the two countries. But, these were mainly for the physical, not the social sciences."

In contrast, there were 12,000 sources for social science students in the United States."

Dr. Lidster's last two years in Wisconsin were also eased by the fact that her mother, Mrs. H. F. Lidster, joined her. "It's good to have a member of your family with whom you can talk and thrash out your frustrations. The learning ability of adults doesn't diminish by any great degree but you're beset by more anxieties than younger folks."

"These tensions tend to block learning—you're more fearful of failure. Men doing graduate work with families have a less hard row to hoe than those without them."

Why did Dr. Lidster swim against the tide of educated Canadians leaving for greener fields?

"First of all, I am a Canadian. Secondly, I did get financial help from my country and, thirdly, there's just as much challenge here, providing one gets the opportunity to do something about it."

Dr. Lidster recently joined the staff of the provincial department of social welfare.

With her convictions and drive, it will be interesting to watch the role she will play in this controversial department.

DEAR ABBY . . .

A Little Too Much!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son and his wife live a few blocks from us and we are very friendly. They have a precious 22-month-old daughter who is being taught to kiss everyone in sight. If there are 25 people in the room, the child is dragged around to kiss each one "hello" and "goodbye." The other day my daughter-in-law stopped by my house for five minutes to borrow something. She had the baby with her and, before they left, she had the baby kiss me and also the television repair man who was there working on my set. I think it is fine to teach children affection, but shouldn't they be taught to save their kisses for special people? I would enjoy the child's kisses much more if her mother would leave her alone and let her kiss me because she wanted to, not because she was told to. What do you think?

GRANDMA.

DEAR GRANDMA: I think you are right. But be careful how you tell your daughter-in-law this, or it will be the kiss of death for your friendship.

DEAR ABBY: You gave good advice to the girl who was ashamed of her mother because she spoke broken English. If you publish my letter, perhaps it will keep others from making the same mistake I made. While I was working out of the city, my mother came to visit me. I loved her dearly, but she was not educated. She spoke with a heavy accent, and I was ashamed to introduce her to any of my friends. I let her stay in my apartment day after day while I went to work. She busied herself cooking and baking (as only she could bake) for my freezer. She stayed a month. After my mother left, a girl in our office invited me to a Sunday brunch in honor of her visiting mother. Well, this girl's mother spoke the same kind of broken English my own mother spoke, but she was sweet and warm and friendly—like my own mother. Everyone loved her. I realized then how small and selfish I had been, and I promised myself that the NEXT time my mother came to visit me I would make it up to her. I never got the chance. She died in her sleep a few months later.

TOO ASHAMED TO SIGN MY NAME.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THAT MAN ON GOAT ISLAND:" There is an old Arabian proverb which applies to your case. "There are three things that are impossible to hide. Smoke, love and a man on a camel."

Mueller, Orchestra Earn 'Well Done' for Concert

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
Nineteenth-century German genius for expressing drama and romanticism in music might be said to be the theme of the current trio of Victoria Symphony Orchestra concerts.

Otto-Werner Mueller's program for the first performance of 1964 is made up of three contemporaries, Humperdinck, Wagner, and the Austrian, Bruckner.

First presented at Sidney Friday night, it was warmly and attentively received by a large audience that included a good proportion of school-age youngsters.

A moderate audience heard it Sunday at the Royal Theatre where it will be repeated tonight at 8:30.

Because it throws the spotlight fully and undividedly upon the orchestra, and because much of the music is familiar, this is a program that offers an excellent opportunity to assess the level of accomplishment of the orchestra.

The fact that one went away murmuring "well done" and with an almost personal sense of accomplishment is sufficient to indicate that this was an encouraging and on the whole, satisfying performance.

TONALLY CHARMING

There were weaknesses, of course. Strings are still not able to attain that mystic, shimmering quality that Wagner sought; there was a slight trouble in the brass section, surprisingly, and Mr. Mueller did not always get from his players the shaping he asked for.

Nevertheless, there was much, both in tutti and solo, that was beautifully done, tonally charming and interpretively pleasing.

Of Wagner, I most enjoyed the Prelude and Love Death from "Tristan and Isolde." In this it seemed that the moods were most poignantly evoked, and as one of the mood masterpieces of all music it offers a substantial challenge to conductor and orchestra.

Less familiar, the Bruckner "Romantic" Symphony (No. 4 in E flat major) is a handsome piece of Gothic, full of rich textures, lyric passages and delightful configurations of dance-like rhythms that haunt the impressive finale.

LYRICISM

Strengthening of communication and the further developing of a bond between Mr.

Mueller and his musicians is noticeable. His control of the dynamic properties of the orchestra is most impressive, especially the effectiveness of his graceful but precise left hand movements.

On the interpretive side, the entire performance had warmth, lyricism and dramatic urgency without departing into the flamboyant and sentimental.

And when one is dealing with Wagner, there is an ever-present danger of overstatement that only the musician of taste and acute discernment can resist while still giving the romantic and dramatic elements their full weight.

CABINET CONFERENCE DELAYED BY PEARSON

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson was scheduled to hold a press conference late today to announce shifts in the cabinet.
Mr. Pearson originally hoped to have the conference this morning, but revised the schedule because of his delay returning from Paris Sunday.
He leaves for Washington Tuesday and holds talks with President Johnson Wednesday.

Federal Pension Reduced

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has redesigned its proposed Canada Pension Plan by lowering benefits, thus cutting costs and making it possible to build up a huge $2,600,000,000 reserve after 10 years of employee-employer contributions.

COMING HERE

Queen Mother Elizabeth will spend a day in Victoria in early February, en route to New Zealand and Australia for a seven-week tour. It was announced Sunday. (See story on Page 13.)

Tanganyika Erupts In Revolt

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanganyika (UPI)—Tanganyika army units mutinied against their white British officers here today.

African mobs caught the flame of revolt and began rioting through the Asian quarters of this East African capital.

Mobs of civilians stormed through the streets shouting "colonialists go home," looting and smashing shops. First indications were that the army mutineers had returned to their barracks after gaining satisfaction. But gunfire, which had been crackling sporadically since before dawn, subsequently became more frequent.

British commonwealth secretary Duncan Sandys told the Commons in London that by mid-afternoon the situation in Dar-es-Salaam "was again deteriorating" and "troops have broken out of their barracks and are roaming the town."

FRIGATE ARRIVES

(Sandys also said a British frigate had been dispatched to the area with a company of British troops aboard. He said the frigate Rhy had arrived from Zanzibar, and was standing by, close off the Tanganyikan shore.

(Sandys told Commons that some of the European residents of Dar-es-Salaam had been "sized and maltreated.")

It was the second uprising to break out in the former British African territories in two days and followed by just eight days the bloody revolt that overthrew the Arab-led government of Zanzibar.

The military leader of the Zanzibar coup, "Field Marshal" John Okello, was reported to have arrived in Dar-es-Salaam for a "rest cure" shortly before the Tanganyika troop rebellion broke out.

The changes, revealed today by Prime Minister Pearson, have these main effects:

The contribution rate — one per cent each by employees and employers, or two per cent by the self-employed — would remain unchanged at the start. But now it would be based on the first $375 a month of a person's income instead of the originally-proposed income ceiling of $333.

Benefits after the first 10 years of the plan's operation would be 20 per cent of the income ceiling instead of 30. Thus, the maximum pension would be reduced to $75 a month from $100.

Atop this would be the $75 monthly old-age security pension financed from income taxes and payable to everyone at age 70 — plus the benefits of any private pension plan.

PROVIDES FOR OPTION

Instead of reducing the contributory pension for retired persons claiming it between the ages of 65 and 69, the government now plans to pay them the full 20-per-cent rate and — for the first time — allow them the option of claiming a reduced old age security pension. The old age security pension would be reduced by an amount that would make a person's lifetime benefits equal to what he would have received by waiting for the full $75 monthly at age 70, based on life expectancy.

The reduction at age 65 would be 32.5 per cent — giving a person about $51 a month for life, plus his 20-per-cent contributory benefit of $75 if he has contributed on the maximum income level.

Combination of the two pensions means for a single person $150 a month at age 70, or $126 a month if he chooses to take both pensions at age 65. For a married couple in the case where the breadwinner alone has contributed to the retirement scheme, they would get $225 monthly at age 70 or $177 a month if they chose to take the old-age security benefit at age 65.

SENT MEMORANDUM

The prime minister, in a Jan. 11 memorandum to the provincial premiers which was released today, said paying this reduced old-age security pension before age 70 is not expected to exceed tax revenues from the present taxing formula.

Effective Jan. 1, the government raised to four per cent from three the old age security tax that applies to individuals on their first $3,000 of taxable income, up to a yearly limit of $120. The three-per-cent old age security tax on corporations and manufacturers' sales was unchanged.

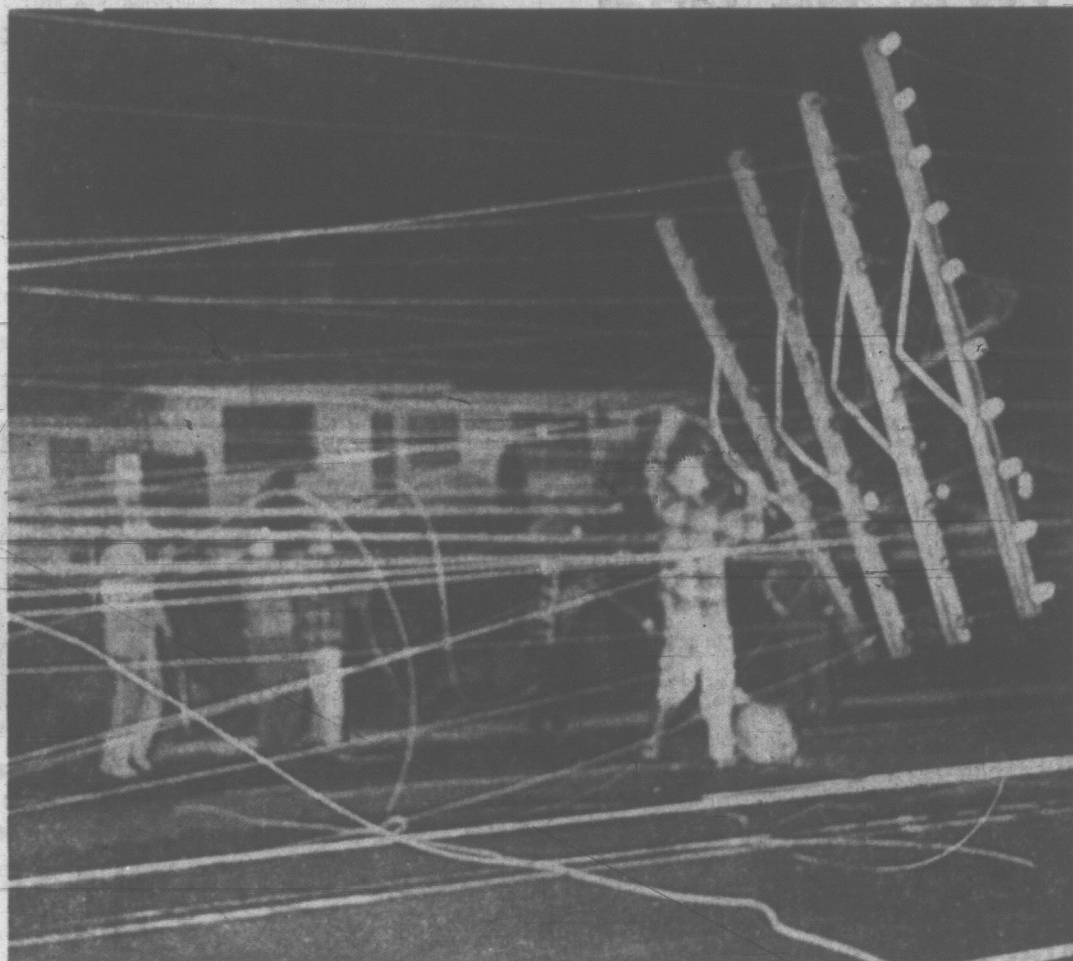

In his memorandum, Mr. Pearson invited the premiers' comments.

But at the same time, he said the government will go ahead with legislation to implement the plan. The legislation would be presented to Parliament at the session opening Feb. 18.

Mr. Pearson reiterated the government's intention to refer the legislation to a parliamentary committee "for detailed study."

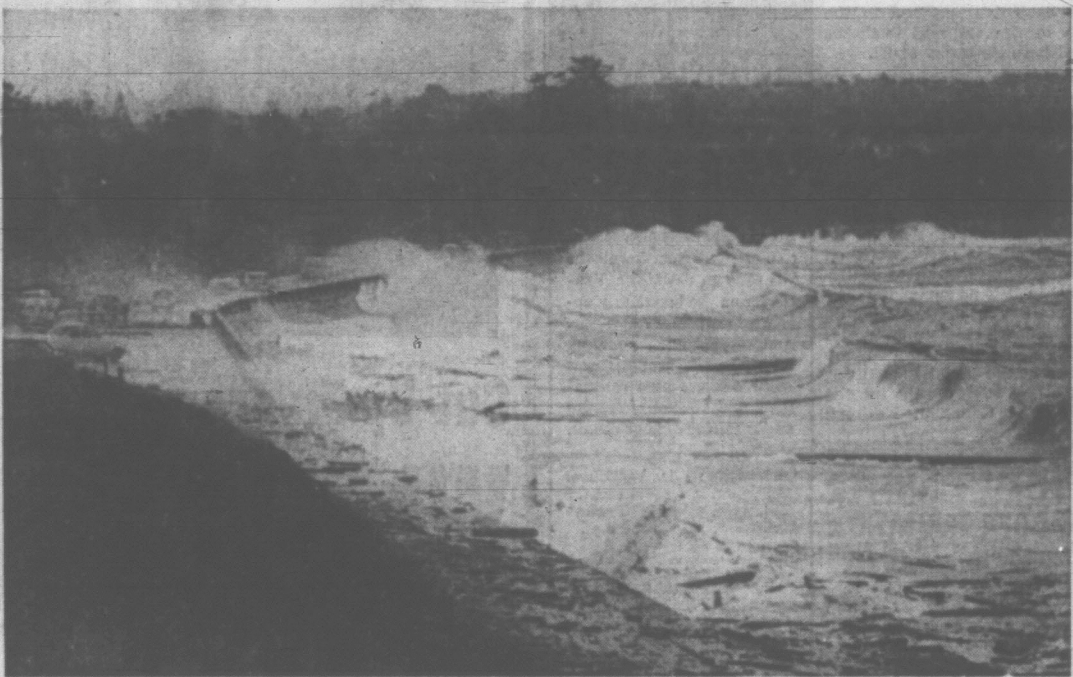

This indicated that another federal-provincial conference on the subject will not be called. Continued on Page 2

Gusts Reach Up to 80 MPH In Fierce Island Windstorm

WEB OF WIRES from downed telephone poles was parted to release a car trapped at height of gales that rocked Victoria Sunday. Six poles dropped on north Douglas Street, creating a traffic tie-up until workmen re-erected them. In lower photo,

MY DARLING CLEMENTINE

Diana's Temple Scene Of Winston's Proposal

By JACK FISHMAN
(Second in a series of 13 articles excerpted from "My Darling Clementine," the story of Lady Churchill, one of the most fascinating personalities of our time.)

Whirlwind courtships ran in the Churchill family. Winston's father boasted that when he met 19-year-old Jennie Jerome, he proposed and was accepted all in three days.

Of their courtship, Clementine said, "He was of a temper that gallops till it falls." Lady Blanche saw that Winston was an incurable romantic and that a woman in his life could make or break it. Knowing her daughter, she recognized that, although a natural rebel, her disciplined modesty, her discretion, her gift of devotion, plus sense of duty, would make her the right woman for Winston.

Lady Blanche was certain that in spite of Clementine's possessing a distinct personality of her own, her sense of dignity would never allow her temperament to create domestic turmoil that would intrude into her husband's public or private life. Even in those days, when Winston wanted something, he usually got it, and he wanted Clementine. He asked his cousin, the Duke of Marlborough, to invite Blanche Hozier and her daughter Clementine to Blenheim Palace.

"A female friend, amiable, clever, and devoted, is a possession more valuable than parks or palaces; and without such a Muse few men can succeed, and none can be happy."

Diana's Temple

Those were the words of Benjamin Disraeli, and young Winston Churchill was certain that his success and happiness were bound up with Clementine Hozier.

Beating Taken By Power Lines

By AB KENT

South Vancouver Island communications systems were still reeling today from a Sunday storm that shook houses, upset pedestrians, downed trees, set a new low-pressure record and blew rain and spume up to 80 miles an hour.

The sudden Pacific blast was felt chiefly in the Puget Sound area, hitting Seattle and Tacoma hard.

In Vancouver it eased off, but knocked out power, snapped trees and closed down 640-acre Stanley Park.

Dominion weather office expects cooler weather, rain or snow showers and more wind up to 35 miles an hour later this week.

Main trunk telephone lines out of Victoria to Nanaimo and west to the Alberni and Wickamish Bay area were shattered by the blow.

Driver Imprisoned by Downed Wires

Motorist Dave Reidie, 426 West Burnside, became a prisoner — nearly a casualty — of downed wires and poles as he headed south on Douglas Street at 7:05 p.m.

Police rescued him from a huge spider web of wires and cables that netted his car when six B.C. Telephone poles were knocked down by winds.

He said he stopped his car when he heard a pole crash behind him near the Tally-ho Hotel. Just then another pole hit the pavement in front of him. Not knowing whether they were electric power or telephone lines he stayed in the car.

All available telephone repair crews and heavy construction gear were put to work all day Sunday, worked long after dark and were out again today restoring service.

B.C. Telephone spokesman Glyn Jones said the downed lines included 2,000 pairs of wire carried in cables, plus single-strand wires carried on four 10-line cross arms.

Long-distance and telephone circuits were interrupted.

Some Phone Connections Still Out

Victoria-Swartz Bay-Gulf Islands lines — Victoria-Nanaimo, Port Alberni-Nanaimo and Victoria-East Sooke connections were still out before noon, some intermittently.

Nanaimo experienced local troubles as well.

A cable was broken at Sidney by a falling tree and there was intermittent service between Nanaimo and Courtenay, Mr. Jones said.

Power interruptions were spotty in Victoria, Saanich and Sooke areas.

Two 8x12-foot glass windows at Morrison Motors were sucked spectacularly into Yates Street, shattering pavement with shreds of shattered glass.

This occurred just before 5 p.m. when wind gusts to 80 miles an hour after blowing at 43-53 mph during the afternoon.

Two women walking near the Royal Theatre were taken by surprise when a gust snatched their umbrella away, then knocked both to the street.

Roof Damaged at TCA Terminal

At Victoria International Airport at Patricia Bay a chunk of roofing was torn off the Trans-Canada Air Line terminal, dowsing the passenger section with rainwater.

Scaffolding on nearby new construction was tossed about like a flock of starlings.

Police had difficulty dissuading Sunday drivers from taking the Ross Bay seawall route along Dallas Road, where the sea put on a spectacular show.

Driftwood was tossed on to the roadway and across it into the cemetery. Police erected barricades, which drivers bypassed, to drive through the spray.

Salt water stalled a few cars this way before drivers reached the dry end.

Despite the seas, B.C. Ferries maintained steady service to the mainland, although Gulf Islands service was disrupted.

At 5 p.m. it was announced on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run there would be no meals served in the tossing dining-room. But officials relented later.

Queen of the Islands, serving the gulf via Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen, missed its second round trip of the islands. Pender Queen stayed over at Swartz Bay to accommodate Tsawwassen passengers heading for the islands.

Rough Time Had by Pender Queen

Vancouver Island-bound passengers from Pender Island prepared to spend the night when Pender Queen failed to land at Port Washington at 6 p.m.

Gale and seas were hitting the ferry broadside as the vessel approached its berth where the Canadian Coast Guard cutter Racer was tied snugly alongside.

She backed off, dangerously

close to the rocks, and beat a retreat for Swartz Bay, leaving a half-dozen cars and some foot passengers stranded.

Good-neighbourliness of islanders got the travellers placed, then roused them again by phone as Pender Queen returned to Hope Bay, on the northeastern tip of the island, after midnight.

Yes, Said the Prince I Think You're Afire

LONDON (Reuters)—Prince Philip called at Arthur Mitchell's back door on a municipal housing estate to tell him his chimney was on fire, it was reported today.

The Queen's husband was accompanied by his 15-year-old son, Prince Charles. They happened to be passing in their landrover truck near the royal estate at Sandringham.

Mitchell, a 57-year-old civil servant, was eating when they appeared at the window and pointed upwards.

At the backdoor, not recognizing his visitors, Mitchell said: "Hello, anything wrong?"

The prince replied: "Yes I think you're on fire."

They talked a little more about how to put it out, and the prince said: "It doesn't look so bad now, I'll be going."

Arthur, returning to his pie in the kitchen, learned from his wife the identity of the visitors.

"I hope you didn't say anything out of place," she said.

CAMERAMEN 'STRIKE' QUEEN

LONDON (Reuters)—British newspaper photographers staged "a royal strike" today and refused to take pictures of Queen Elizabeth and her son, the Prince of Wales, when they arrived at a London railway station.

Instead the photographers — some two dozen of them — formed up on the road opposite the platform with their hands in their pockets or at a position of attention as the Queen and the prince left their coach.

A spokesman for the photographers said later it was not meant as disrespect to the Queen. They protested against lack of facilities for the press.

Four Men Hurt As Wrecker Hit

LAKE COWICHAN—Four local persons were taken to hospital following an accident involving two cars and a wrecker on Lake Cowichan Road Saturday.

Police said the wrecker was attempting to pull a car from a ditch when a second car crashed into the recovery vehicle.

Taken to King's Daughters' Hospital in Duncan were David Giesbrecht, driver of the second car, passengers Jack Gunderson, William Mensell, and I. Johnson, the wrecker driver.

The first three men were released following treatment. Mr. Johnson is being detained in the Duncan hospital for X-rays.

Driver of the car being pulled from the ditch, Edward Pepin, was not injured.

Damage was estimated at $1,300.

DUNCAN—Clarence L. Larson of Crofton was sentenced to two years less one day in Oakalla jail on each of two charges, one of false pretence and another of attempting false pretences involving worthless cheques.

Larson was also fined a total of $105, with an alternative of 30 days in jail, for crossing a single solid line and speeding at Ladysmith on Oct. 3.

Sentences on all charges will run concurrently.

'HUGE AREAS SOUGHT'

Truck Loggers Seek Halt To Pulp-Harvest Licences

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Truck Loggers' Association will ask the provincial government to stop granting pulp-harvesting licences.

The resolution passed at the annual meeting of the association said the group "has been consistently opposed... to the granting of the monopolistic and non-competitive rights to any large tracts of crown timber, whether it be by way of a forest-management licence, a tree farm licence or a pulp-harvesting licence."

It added: "This association views with alarm the increasing number of applications for pulp harvesting licences and the huge harvesting areas that are being sought."

"It is the considered opinion of this association that the law of supply and demand will take care of the raw material supply required by any pulp plant, provided a fair price is paid to logging operations for the material."

FAIR PRICE

The association passed another resolution asking Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston to set up machinery to establish a "fair contract price" for work done for holders of tree-farm licences.

They asked that the price be based on Forest Service appraisal figures instead of being set by the tree farm licence holder.

Many tree farm licences have clauses stipulating that 30 to 50 per cent of logging in the licence area must be farmed out to independent operators.

TERMED INEQUITABLE

The association said "it feels that to leave the setting of the contract price in the hands of the tree-farm licence holder is impractical and inequitable."

REVENGE was believed reason behind gangland bombing in Detroit Sunday which caused critical injuries to Mafia official Santo (Sam) Perrone, 69. Police described Perrone as an "extortion artist." Bomb went off when he turned ignition key in his car.

Barnsby Funeral

Ward Re-elected

QUALICUM BEACH—George Ward of Coombs has been re-elected chairman of Qualicum school board.

C. J. Mitchell was re-elected vice-chairman.

Trustees discussed an extensive school building and improvement program made possible by a $317,000 school loan referendum which was passed by ratepayers last November.

CROWDS packing the floor and galleries of Metropolitan United Church during Sunday's interdenominational service prayed for a fulfilment of the scriptural words "That they may all be one."

1,500 ATTEND INTERDENOMINATIONAL PRAYER MEETING

'Unity Is the Fruit of Redemption'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A growing spirit of unity among Victoria churches has been noted since Christmas Eve when church leaders met informally in a private chapel adjoining the residence of Anglican Archbishop Harold Sexton.

On Sunday afternoon that spirit was magnified many hundreds of times at an inter-church service which Times church editor Norman Cribbens writes about here.

History was made in Victoria Sunday afternoon when 1,500 ministers and followers of most city churches, including Roman Catholics, defied wind and rain to attend an interdenominational prayer meeting in Metropolitan United Church.

It was a solemn occasion, touched with emotion, for never before had so many members of so many churches gathered together in a mass prayer for Christian unity.

The old Rhennish-style church at the corner of Quadra and Pandora was crowded to capacity when the service began at 3 p.m., but late-comers continued to arrive and by 3:15 p.m. 200 more had taken up standing room around the floor and galleries.

"This is indeed an historic occasion," said Rev. Father A. J. McDonald, speaking for the Roman Catholic diocese of Victoria.

"We are slowly learning that peace and true Christian brotherhood can be had only through Christ. Unity is the fruit of redemption and it is born of love."

For the Anglican Church, Canon C. Hilary Butler said: "The more unity we achieve the more the world will be ready to believe that God the Father sent his Son to save the world."

The inter-church meeting was held under auspices of the Victoria Council of Churches and the Roman Catholic diocese of Victoria and organized by the council's committee on evangelism and social action.

In a prayer for unity, Rev. H. Gordon Walker, chairman of the committee, and Anglican vicar of St. David-by-the-Sea, Cordova Bay, said:

"For our controversies, sometimes full of narrow-mindedness and lacking in charity towards our Christian brothers, for our harsh judgments, we beseech Thee to pardon us, O Lord."

"For all the culpable violence which has been exercised in the past and is still exercised today against our Christian brothers, we beseech Thee to 'pardon us, O Lord.'"

Rev. S. J. Parsons, DD, of Centennial United prayed that Christians should have "the courage to reject all our hidden indifference and mistrust, and our mutual hostility."

The saying of the Lord's Prayer was led by Rev. Julius Bergbusch, Good Shepherd Lutheran, and Rev. A. C. Hamill, Emmanuel Baptist, offered a prayer that "we may all find one another in one and the same love in Jesus Christ, Our Lord."

Scriptures were read by Rev. William Klempa, Gorge Presbyterian; Brigadier Victor Underhill of the Salvation Army, and Very Rev. J. L. W. McLean, St. Andrew's Presbyterian.

In a 10-minute address, Canon Butler of the Anglican Church chose three words from the scriptures—love, authority and unity.

"Those who have not love in their hearts are not living the life of grace. Authority says that love understood in its perfection, is more than a human instinct. It is a human instinct controlled by the rational loving spirit of God."

"Unity says to the Christian that, inasmuch as all are one in the Father and Son, then we are all one together. If this oneness is not reflected in the concrete and visible organization through which Christians worship, then there must be something gravely wrong with our love, or with our obedience to Jesus' authority."

Canon Butler said Christians should be "penitential" because of the schisms which had developed among them and because of "the further sins which have helped to perpetuate the divisions."

Yet, he added, each communion feels it must be true to its own honestly-held understanding of Christ's will.

"The dilemma of our differences is insoluble, but with God all things are possible and the way to Christian unity is the way to the centre in Christ."

"We can find brotherhood if we recognize Jesus as the brother of us all."

Rev. Father McDonald, wearing the uniform of a Roman Catholic Army Chaplain, took his text from St. John 17, verse 21, "That they may all be one."

"We know that unity for all men is the will of Christ," he said, and today more than at any time in history men long for unity.

"But only when we truly love one another and are willing to suffer and sacrifice for one another will we become one in true Christian brotherhood."

Father McDonald said the ecumenical movement, inspired by Pope John and other Christian leaders, did not mean the abandonment of personal Christian convictions.

"Rather it brings Christians face to face with the divine light of Christ. It urges us to labor side by side in the pursuit of truth. And in that pursuit it may be necessary for us to rededicate ourselves to Christian truth and teaching."

"We are by nature the blood brothers of Jesus Christ and by grace the adopted sons of God."

Statements published in the Victoria Daily Times by Roman Catholic Bishop de Roo, Anglican Archbishop Harold Sexton and other church leaders were quoted by Father McDonald as evidence of "a new climate—a wonderfully different atmosphere in which the love of Christ has gathered us together."

Rev. Gordon Walker said the idea of an inter-church service in Victoria had been born in an atmosphere of goodwill and had developed in that spirit.

"We thank God that such an expression of unity among our Victoria churches has been made possible," he said.

The choir of First United Church, directed by W. H. Gregory, with Mrs. E. M. Gregory at the organ, led the singing of three hymns known to all denominations—The Church's One Foundation, When I Survey the Wondrous Cross, and Praise My Soul the King of Heaven.

A collection was taken to cover expenses of the service and to aid the work of the Committee on Evangelism and Social Action of the Victoria Council of Churches.

Rev. F. E. H. James, DD, minister of Metropolitan United Church, said he was happy that so many churches had chosen Metropolitan for a united service of worship.

WOMAN DIES AFTER FALL

An 80-year-old woman died this morning of injuries received Friday when she fell down the steps into the basement of her home.

Mrs. Amelia Selby, 2505 Empire, had only moved into the house a week ago.

Mrs. Selby and her husband, her sole survivor, had lived in Victoria for 34 years. She was born in England.

Funeral arrangements have been tentatively made for Wednesday morning.

Five-Month Term Penalty For Impaired

Magistrate William Ostler today carried out the threat he made last week to get tough with impaired drivers.

He sent one man to jail for five months for his third offence.

And he fined another man $400.

Lloyd Hollings, 363 Ker, was picked up by Saanich police after an accident at Tillicum and Burnside Saturday night. Hollings was in his stockinged feet. Police said he told them he had left his shoes at a party.

It was his third impaired driving offence, court was told this morning after he pleaded guilty. The magistrate sentenced him to five months in jail and prohibited him from driving anywhere in Canada for three years.

COLLISION AT LIGHT

Joseph Mensen, 3019 Pickford, ran into the rear of a car stopped for a red light at Douglas and Finlayson Saturday night. He drove off but was caught at Tolmie.

Court was told that Mensen was convicted of impaired driving but it was more than five years ago and so the Crown did not charge him as a second offender. A second conviction results in a jail sentence.

Magistrate Ostler fined him $400 for impaired driving and $100 for failing to remain at the scene of the accident.

In Greater Victoria courts the usual punishment for impaired drivers has been $250. Magistrate Ostler indicated last week that he intended to increase this fine because of the increasing number of impaired driving offences in this area.

Paving, Fencing Mayor's Plan For Arena Area

Mayor R. B. Wilson today said he fervently hopes there will be enough left of a projected $120,000 for acquisition and development of six properties alongside Memorial Arena to permit paving and fencing this year.

"I certainly hope we will be in a position to do so as it would be most desirable," he said.

Earlier, land commissioner Alfred Joyce said the purchase phase of the project is just about sewn up.

"We have acquired four of the properties and the owners of the remaining two already have indicated they will sell to us at satisfactory prices," he said.

Actual figures for the purchases will not be revealed until all six titles are held by the city.

City Hall plans to tear down the buildings and create a 182-car parking lot for the arena which also could double as a midway area for fairs and other outdoor shows.

Gardeners Meet

View Royal Garden Club will hold its annual meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in View Royal Community Hall.

Police Demands To Come

Three of the 17 civic unions have made contract requests that would cost $230,000—almost 2½ mills—to meet this year, city manager Dennis Young said today.

However, the city for the first time this year plans to make counter-demands to all the unions which would reduce the annual wage bill. These have not been revealed yet.

The three unions already negotiating with city officials represent 90 firemen, 175 "inside staff" employees and 240 "outside staff" employees.

POLICE TOO

The 108-member policemen's union also has submitted new contract requests but these were not immediately available.

Mr. Young said the biggest increase is sought by the firemen's union in a combined shorter work week—higher pay package that would increase the average hourly earnings by almost 16 per cent.

The inside staff seeks a three-year contract providing a 5 per cent wage increase for each year, as well as other benefits.

The outside staff has asked for a 15 cents an hour raise in a one-year contract or a 15 cents and 10 cents sequence in a two-year contract.

MORE MEN

Mr. Young said the bill for meeting all of the firemen's requests would run to an additional $87,500 this year.

He said 12 more men would have to be hired to maintain present manpower per shift to meet a union demand that the work week be reduced from 48 to 42 hours.

In addition, the union seeks wage parity with Vancouver which would add 1.43 per cent to the $48 monthly basic wage for a fourth-class fireman, totaling $523 when all fringe benefits are added up.

The inside union requests would cost $54,000 more this year but would include built-in increases for the next two years.

Requested is a 5 per cent wage increase across the board for each of the next three years, a half-hour earlier closing time (at 4:30 p.m.) for the roughly six months of daylight saving time in place of the present three-month summer period and improvements in the holiday and overtime pay clauses.

15 CENTS

The outside staff—which has a standard $2.04 hourly wage for laborers—has requested a 15 cents increase as well as holiday schedule improvements in a one-year contract.

Meeting this would cost the city $89,000 this year.

Mr. Young said negotiations are on the point of entering the actual bargaining stage.

SPEAKING TONIGHT in University of Victoria auditorium on Lansdowne campus is Prof. W. S. Livingston of University of Texas. An authority on federalism and constitutional amendments, his subject will be "Future of Government in the U.S." The talk, open to the public, starts at 8:15. The professor addressed a political science forum at noon.

Girl Talks, Fights Way To Freedom

A 20-year-old former Duncan girl now working here tricked a man into letting her go after he dragged her into a dark alley off Bay Street Saturday evening.

Lisa Binette, 2560 Vancouver, said her attacker pulled her into the alley beside the Armoury and threatened her: "Better not scream or I'll kill you."

The man made advances to her in the alley, she said, and she told him to stop and they could go to her apartment. She said he wouldn't believe her at first and said she would scream if he let go.

BROKE FREE

She promised him not to, and persuaded him to go to the street with her. He tried to hold on but when they got out to Bay Street she broke free, screamed and ran toward Douglas Street.

The man chased her across Douglas to the Brite Spot Drive-In. From there police were called.

Miss Binette described her attacker as about 26 years old, six feet tall, wearing a long grey coat and light trousers. He had light colored hair, she said.

'Phone Call' Costs $244

A city store owner allowed two men to make a $244 "telephone" call Saturday without knowing it.

The men asked permission to use the phone at Tike N Teen Shoe Store, 811 Fort. One went to the back of the store and made the call. Then both left.

Half an hour later it was discovered that $244 was missing from the cash register near the telephone.

Free-Suite Scheme For Janitors 'Out'

The B.C. government has dropped plans to make apartment owners provide free suites for resident janitors.

The Labor Department today rescinded an order which it made last November, but which was stalled because of protests from apartment owners and janitors.

The order, which was to have come into effect Jan. 1, was protested by more than 300 people at a hearing, Labor Minister Leslie Peterson said.

The owners were balking at providing free accommodation as well as paying wages to janitors.

They were afraid, a labor official said, that the janitors would demand penthouses. Some janitors feared that apartment owners would fire them and hire commercial firms to clean apartments, he added.

MINIMUM WAGES

A new order, effective March 1, provides new minimum wages for janitors based on the number of suites they look after, a system which had been in use since 1957.

Resident janitors in blocks of five to seven suites will now get a minimum of $72 a month instead of $50.

The maximum rate, for more than 50 suites, will be $336 a month, instead of $265.

Non-resident janitors, who are paid by the hour, will get a boost in minimums from 75 cents to $1 an hour.

The new order also gives the Industrial Relations Board the power to regulate the rent charged to janitors if it is proved unreasonable.

Topics of the Day

A 33-year-old contractor injured when his Land Rover tumbled over a 30-foot embankment is slowly improving in condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

James Henderson, 101 La-lagoon Road, suffered a skull fracture in the accident near his home last Monday.

He went home after the accident and was only taken to hospital next day when the extent of his injuries began to be apparent.

All 28 Victoria bartenders who began an official government training course Nov. 18 last year have passed their examination.

They were the first to take a course created after the passage in March of Bill 31 made government certification compulsory for all tradesmen.

A second group is now studying each day at downtown hotels.

Next meeting of the Beverage Dispensers' Union will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at Union Centre, 2750 Quadra.

St. Alban's 50-Up Club will meet in the Parish Hall, 1468 Ryan Street, Thursday at 2 p.m.

Ask The Times

Q. What is the purpose of the zip code in the United States? R.E.B.

A. The zip code is used to speed up mail delivery by dividing the country into delivery units, each with its own five-digit number.

To illustrate how the system works, take for example the zip code number 95610. The "9" means the letter will go anywhere in California, Oregon, Washington, Alaska or Hawaii. The "5" indicates northern California. The "6" is the code number for Sacramento, and the "10" is the Citrus Heights postal zone in that city.

Business firms which have large volumes of mail can ensure speedier delivery by sorting mail into the various zip code zones.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve controversies or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to set a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along with the Times addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Pension Plan Cut to Build Huge Reserve

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has re-designed its proposed Canada Pension Plan by lowering benefits, thus cutting costs and making it possible to build up a huge $2,600,000,000 reserve after 10 years of employee-employer contributions.

The changes, revealed today by Prime Minister Pearson, have these main effects:

The contribution rate — one per cent each by employees and employers, or two per cent by the self-employed — would remain unchanged at the start. But now it would be based on the first $375 a month of a person's income instead of the originally-proposed income ceiling of $333.

Benefits after the first 10 years of the plan's operation would be 20 per cent of the income ceiling instead of 30. Thus, the maximum pension would be reduced to $75 a month from $100.

Atop this would be the $75 monthly old-age security pension financed from income taxes and payable to everyone at age 70 — plus the benefits of any private pension plan.

PROVIDES FOR OPTION

Instead of reducing the contributory pension for retired persons claiming it between the ages of 65 and 69, the government now plans to pay them the full 20-per-cent rate and — for the first time — allow them the option of claiming a reduced old age security pension.

The old age security pension would be reduced by an amount that would make a person's lifetime benefits equal to what he would have received by waiting for the full $75 monthly at age 70, based on life expectancy.

CAMERAMEN 'STRIKE' QUEEN

LONDON (Reuters)—British newspaper photographers staged "a royal strike" today and refused to take pictures of Queen Elizabeth and her son, the Prince of Wales, when they arrived at a London railway station.

Instead the photographers—some two dozen of them—formed up on the road opposite the platform with their hands in their pockets or at a position of attention as the Queen and the prince left their coach.

A spokesman for the photographers said later it was not meant as disrespect to the Queen. They protested against lack of facilities for the press.

3 NEW MINISTERS IN OTTAWA SHIFT

B.C.'s Nicholson Leaves Forestry

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Pearson handed new assignments to six present cabinet ministers and added three new ones today in a wholesale revision of his Liberal government.

The major appointment went to Guy Favreau, 46-year-old immigration minister, who was handed the prestige justice portfolio and the key job of government house leader in the Commons.

The dual assignment seemed to firmly stamp him as Pearson's Quebec lieutenant.

Another important appointment went to Transport Minister George McRae, who was named to a new portfolio—president of the treasury board—to exercise "close, continued effective control" over government spending.

The new ministry will require special legislation at the next session of Parliament opening Feb. 18. Until then, the 56-year-old McRae will handle his new "watchdog" role from the temporary post of privy council president.

EXISTING MINISTRY

Other shifts within the existing ministry included:

John W. Pickersgill, 59, now secretary of state, to transport. He will continue to handle the Atlantic development board from there, but will give up his current responsibility for broadcasting.

Present Privy Council president Maurice Lamontagne, 46, to secretary of state with responsibility for broadcasting, the newly-formed economic council of Canada, the centennial commission, civil service bilingualism, and other cultural bodies such as the Canada Council, Queen's Printer and national museum.

John R. Nicholson, 62, of Vancouver, now forestry minister, to postmaster-general, filling the gap created by the resignation of Azellus Denis to accept a Senate appointment.

KEY APPOINTMENT

Rene Tremblay, 41-year-old minister without portfolio, to citizenship and immigration.

Key new appointment went to Maurice Sauve, 40-year-old Quebec economist, who will take over the forestry department expanded to include the Agriculture Rehabilitation and Development Agency (ARDA) and eastern feed-grain problems now under Agriculture Minister Harry Hays.

Another Quebec member, 36-year-old Yvon Dupuis, was named a minister without portfolio. —And Senator John J. Connolly of Ottawa accepted a similar appointment along with government leadership in the Upper Chamber.

MOBS MARCH

Tanganyika Army Units in Revolt

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanganyika (UPI)—Tanganyika army units mutinied against their white British officers here today.

African mobs caught the flame of revolt and began rioting through the Asian quarters of this East African capital.

Mobs of civilians stormed through the streets shouting "colonialists go home," looting and smashing shops. First indications were that the army mutineers had returned to their barracks after gaining satisfaction. But gunfire which had been crackling sporadically since before dawn, subsequently became more frequent.

British commonwealth secretary Duncan Sandys told the Commons in London that by mid-afternoon the situation in Dar-es-Salaam "was again deteriorating" and "troops have

110 Die in Quake

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Rescue workers today began the slow task of rehabilitating south Formosa areas devastated by an earthquake that killed 110 persons and injured 479, according to press reports. Seven other persons were missing and presumed dead.

WEB OF WIRES from downed telephone poles was parted to release a car trapped at height of gales that rocked Victoria Sunday. Six poles dropped on north Douglas Street, creating a traffic tie-up until workmen re-erected them. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

80-Mile Gusts Lash Island; Telephone, Power Lines Hit

By AB KENT

South Vancouver Island communications systems were still reeling today from a Sunday storm that shook houses, upset pedestrians, downed trees, set a new low-pressure record and blew rain and spume up to 80 miles an hour.

The sudden Pacific blast was felt chiefly in the Puget Sound area, hitting Seattle and Tacoma hard.

In Vancouver it eased off, but knocked out power, snapped trees and closed down 1,000-acre Stanley Park.

Cooler Weather

Dominion weather office expects cooler weather, rain or snow showers and more wind up to 35 miles an hour later this week.

Main trunk telephone lines out of Victoria to Nanaimo and west to the Albernis and Wickaninnish Bay area were shattered by the blow.

Motorist Dave Reidie, 426 West Burnside, became a prisoner—nearly a casualty—of downed wires and poles as he headed south on Douglas Street at 7:05 p.m.

Police rescued him from a huge spider web of wires and cables that netted his car when six B.C. Telephone poles were knocked down by winds.

Heard Pole Crash

He said he stopped his car when he heard a pole crash behind him near the Tally-ho Hotel. Just then another pole hit the pavement in front of him.

Not knowing whether they were electric power or telephone lines he stayed in the car.

All available telephone repair crews and heavy construction gear were put to work all day Sunday, worked long after dark and were out again today restoring service.

B.C. Telephone spokesman Glyn Jones said the downed lines included 2,000 pairs of wire carried in cables, plus single-strand wires carried on four 10-line cross arms.

Long-distance and teletype circuits were interrupted.

Phones Still Out

Victoria-Swartz Bay-Gulf Islands lines, Victoria-Nanaimo, Port Alberni-Nanaimo and Victoria-East Sooke connections were still out before noon, some intermittently.

Nanaimo experienced local troubles as well.

A cable was broken at Sidney by a falling tree and there was intermittent service between Nanaimo and Courtenay, Mr. Jones said.

Power interruptions were spotty in Victoria, Saanich and Sooke areas.

Two 8x12-foot glass windows at Morrison Motors were sucked spectacularly into Yates Street, showering pavement with shreds of shattered glass.

Peak in Afternoon

This occurred just before 5 p.m. when wind gusts to 80 miles an hour after blowing at 43-53 mph during the afternoon.

Two women walking near the Royal Theatre were taken by surprise when a gust snatched their umbrella away, then knocked both to the street.

At Victoria International Airport at Patricia Bay a chunk of roofing was torn off the Trans-Canada Air Line terminal, dowsing the passenger section with rainwater.

Scaffolding on nearby new construction was tossed about like a flock of starlings.

Police had difficulty dissuading Sunday drivers from taking the Ross Bay seawall route along Dallas Road, where the sea put on a spectacular show.

Driftwood was tossed on to the roadway and across it into the cemetery. Police erected barricades, which drivers bypassed to drive through the spray.

Salt water stalled a few cars this way before drivers reached the dry end.

Despite the seas, B.C. Ferries maintained steady service to the mainland, although Gulf Islands service was disrupted.

At 5 p.m. it was announced on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run there would be no meals served in the tossing dining-room. But officials relented.

Queen of the Islands, serving the gulf via Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen, missed its second round trip of the islands. Pender Queen stayed over at Swartz Bay to accommodate Tsawwassen passengers heading for the islands.

COMING HERE

Queen Mother Elizabeth will spend a day in Victoria in early February, en route to New Zealand and Australia for a seven-week tour, it was announced Sunday. (See story on Page 13.)

Gale and seas were hitting the ferry broadside as the vessel approached its berth where the Canadian Coast Guard cutter Racer was tied snugly alongside.

She backed off, dangerously close to the rocks, and beat a retreat for Swartz Bay, leaving a half-dozen cars and some foot passengers stranded.

Good-neighbourliness of islanders got the travellers placed, then roused them again by phone as Pender Queen returned to Hope Bay, on the northeastern tip of the island, after midnight.

Passengers were returned to

PENSION

INVEST FUNDS

The $2,500,000,000 reserve that will build up in the fund after its first 10 years results from these various changes, and also from last year's decision to increase old age security taxes instead of using contributions to finance the $10 increase to $75 monthly in the universal old-age pension.

Mr. Pearson said half of this money will be invested in federal securities.

The other half will be invested in provincial or provincially-guaranteed securities, with the money "distributed among the provinces in ratio to the contribution incomes from each province."

This may meet the Ontario Government's chief objection to the plan in its original form—namely, that by paying out contributions in benefits almost as soon as they come in, there would be a loss of available investment capital because many may drop contributions to private pension schemes that now accumulate this capital.

"The federal proposal is designed to cause as little disturbance as possible to private pension plans," Mr. Pearson said in his memorandum.

He said the purpose of the federal scheme is to provide—in combination with the old-age security pensions of $75 monthly payable to everyone at age 70—"pensions which are modestly adequate for those people who are not in a position to make any other provision for their retirement."

COMPULSORY FOR MOST

There is no way to do this except by making the plan as near "universal" as possible, he said. The plan will be compulsory for about 80 per cent of the working population—all except the self-employed and those working for employers for whom it would be "administratively difficult" to collect contributions.

"The federal government does not believe it is practicable to provide for contracting-out of the public plan in favor of private plans," he wrote.

"Instead of contracting out, the continuation and extension of private plans will rest on the continuing incentive for contributors to make additional provision for their retirement."

"The federal government considers that this incentive would probably remain adequate under its original proposals. With the suggested revisions there would be even less danger of weakening the incentive."

By making people familiar with the pension idea, he said, the federal operation would "stimulate the establishment of private plans for more and more of the 70 per cent of the labor force not now covered."

MOST PLANS UNCHANGED

Mr. Pearson said the existing private pension plans which provide "relatively small benefits and contribution rates" could be expected to remain unchanged in most cases. But some of "the most generous" of the private plans undoubtedly would require adjustments.

"It should be emphasized that such adjustment does not involve interference with the pension benefits for which people have already made contributions."

"The changes involved concern only the extent to which future contributions, and the benefits deriving from them, should be adjusted to the existence of the Canada Pension Plan."

Mr. Pearson said the decision to reduce retirement benefits to 20 per cent from 30 per cent of "pensionable earnings" would cut by one-third the previous actuarial estimates of the percentage of contributions needed to finance the system.

'Slaughter' In Zanzibar

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP)—Tales of mass slaughter of Asians and Arabs following the revolution in Zanzibar reached here from the island state Sunday.

Letters to relatives in Tanganyika and reporters arriving from Zanzibar told of bodies being thrown into communal graves and quickly covered so the true figure would probably never be known.

However, he said this saving in turn is reduced by changes in the government's plan—also revealed in his memorandum—to pay pensions on the 20-per cent scale to retired persons who choose to draw their benefits between the ages of 65 and 70.

ESTIMATE SAVING

He said a rough estimate of the cost saving, with that taken into account, is one-fifth.

Based on revised actuarial estimates, the rate of contributions needed by the year 2000 would rise to between three and 3.4 per cent of pensionable earnings—the income ceiling.

By averaging the actuarial high- and low-cost assumptions, which take account of such things as birth and mortality rates, the government produced a table showing that by the year 2050 the contribution rate needed to finance the plan would be 4.4 per cent.

However, Mr. Pearson pointed out that these assumptions do not take account of the interest earned by the government on investing the fund reserve.

He said the proposed legislation will set out a schedule of contribution rates starting at one per cent each from employers and employees.

The legislation itself will include the dates—not cited in the prime minister's memorandum—at which the contribution rates could be stepped up by one-quarter of one per cent to the level estimated to be required by the year 2000.

UNCHANGED FOR 5 YEARS

Following are the details of the revised government plan: It will be based on the $4,500 level of pensionable earnings. This figure will remain unchanged for the first five years. Thereafter it will be "adjusted in steps of $100 a year as required."

The 10-year transition period would mean that benefits, as a proportion of the changing income ceiling, would be two per cent of that ceiling in the first year, rising by two percentage points a year to 20 per cent in the 10th year.

This would be available to everyone at age 70, plus those between 65 and 69 who have retired.

However, those who retire at age 65 and choose to claim their Canada Pension Plan benefits then will get a reduced pension. They would get their 20-per cent payment. But, for the first time, the government would begin paying the old age security pension to them at a rate 32.5 per cent less than they would get by waiting until age 70. There would be corresponding cuts for those retiring at ages between 65 and 69.

This would mean paying age-reduced pensions in part from the old age security fund. But Mr. Pearson said these payments are not expected to exceed revenues from the fund, bolstered Jan. 1 by an increase in the old age security tax paid by individuals.

There would be no retirement or means test for those who take the old-age security pension before the age of 70.

But for the earnings-related benefit—that is, the one financed from contributions—pensions starting before age 70 would be conditional on retirement. Those who retire would be allowed "earnings" of $900 a year in wages or salaries—that is, income from self-employment, excluding any income from property.

For those who are "retired" and yet earn between $900 and $1,500 a year, $1 would be deducted from the annual pension for every $2 of earnings. For earnings beyond $1,500 a year by such people, every $1 earned would reduce the pension benefit by $1. However, a retired person who earned not more than $75 in any one month would be entitled to draw the full pension for that month.

Under the transition period, the age at which both the old age security pension and the earnings-related benefits would become available would be lowered one step at a time. After one year of operating the plan, the benefits would be available at age 69, after two years at age 68 and so on until benefits are payable to those 65 five years after the plan begins.

PLASTIC WORMS LURE RED FISH TO HOOK

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet chemical industry is producing plastic worms to catch real fish—and the fish are falling for the bait.

The newspaper Leninist Banner reported Sunday the worms are being turned out at a factory in suburban Moscow.

It said 50,000 worms were produced last year and that the demand is so great that this year's output will be 1,500,000.

The synthetic worms are a boon for Moscow's thousands of amateur fishermen who fish through holes in the ice in the frozen rivers and canals in and around the capital.

One fisherman, the paper reported, caught seven fish in five minutes—using the same inedible plastic worm.

30-Cent Boost IWA '64 Goal

VANCOUVER (CP)—The International Woodworkers of America, Local 1-217, jumped the gun Sunday, releasing wage increase demands for a new contract to be negotiated in the spring.

George Kowbel, local vice-president, said the union will demand a wage increase of 30 cents an hour and 30 cents for unspecified benefits.

Kowbel said he made the statement on instructions from local president Syd Thompson who predicted at the meeting that 1964 will be the best ever for the province's forest industry.

"Thompson suggested that employees in the forest industry should never be satisfied until they are the best paid people in the province," Kowbel said.

The local's resolution was to be forwarded to a wages and contracts conference which meets in February to discuss union demands.

Yes, Said the Prince, I Think You're Afire

LONDON (Reuters)—Prince Philip called at Arthur Mitchell's back door on a municipal housing estate to tell him his chimney was on fire, it was reported today.

The Queen's husband was accompanied by his 15-year-old son, Prince Charles. They happened to be passing in their Land Rover truck near the royal estate at Sandringham. Mitchell, a 57-year-old civil servant, was eating when they appeared at the window and pointed upwards.

At the backdoor, not recognizing his visitors, Mitchell said: "Hello, anything wrong?"

"I think your chimney is on fire," the prince said. Strolling outside, Arthur told the prince: "By jove, you're right."

The prince replied: "Yes I think you're on fire."

They talked a little more about how to put it out, and the prince said: "It doesn't look so bad now, I'll be going."

Arthur, returning to his pie in the kitchen, learned from his wife the identity of the visitors.

"I hope you didn't say anything out of place," she said.

CPR Pioneer Dies at 92

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thomas Huntley Crump, a man who always called himself a railroad laborer and watched his executive son rise to the top in the railroad business, died here Saturday at 92.

His son, N. R. Crump, now chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was one of three who followed him into the transportation business.

But none of the youngsters started right at the bottom as their father had. And he remembered his early work on the section through to retirement in 1934 as superintendent of the CPR's Kettle Valley division. After 44 years in rail service, he lived for many years in the Hotel Vancouver, then operated jointly by the CPR and Canadian National Railway.

Barometric Reading Hits New Low

Vancouver also set a new pressure low with 28.6 inches at the airport, and at Tofino airport, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, the barometer reading was 28.45 inches. Winds started from the southeast, gusting to 60 in the forenoon, then lulled and swung into the southwest for the big blow. Last heavy gust was 63 miles an hour at 10 p.m.

"Unsettled," is the last word from Gonzales Hill.

CUTBACK CONDEMNED

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan Premier W. S. Lloyd today criticized proposed changes in the Canada pension plan as a "watering down" of the plan.

Mr. Lloyd said he was particularly critical of the federal government's proposal to reduce pension benefits paid at retirement from 30 per cent of the average annual lifetime earnings to 20 per cent.

"This drastic reduction in the benefit formula... defeats the main purpose of a contributory system which is to help people in planning against too drastic a drop in income when they retire," Mr. Lloyd said.

Just before the storm struck, the mercury fell to a barometric reading of 28.58 inches at sea level, a record since weather statistics were first kept here in 1898. Previous low pressure here was 28.65 inches Dec. 6, 1952.

In Vancouver Stanley Park was closed to traffic for two hours Sunday night. Four trees were blown down there, one blocking the park driveway at Prospect Point and another at Brockton Point.

The entire Whalley district was plunged into darkness shortly after the storm struck but the power was later restored.

The winds flipped over several small planes at the Renton airport. On the Columbia River near Tongue Point, two 350-foot freighters, the Grand France and the Othello, collided in the wind-whipped waters.

Snow blanketed western Washington after the storm passed, ranging from two inches in Seattle and Everett areas to 10 inches at Holly, on Hood Canal.

A number of outlying schools closed for the day.

Family Custom Fast Courtship

By JACK FISHMAN

(Second in a series of 13 articles excerpted from "My Darling Clementine," the story of Lady Churchill, one of the most fascinating personalities of our time.)

Whirlwind courtships ran in the Churchill family. Winston's father boasted that when he met 19-year-old Jennie Jerome, he proposed and was accepted all in three days.

Of their courtship, Clementine said, "He was of a temper that gallops till it falls."

Lady Blanche saw that Winston was an incurable romantic and that a woman in his life could make or break it. Knowing her daughter, she recognized that, although a natural rebel, her disciplined modesty, her discretion, her gift of devotion, plus sense of duty, would make her the right woman for Winston.

Lady Blanche was certain that in spite of Clementine's possessing a distinct personality of her own, her sense of dignity would never allow her temperament to create domestic turmoil that would intrude into her husband's public or private life.

Even in those days, when Winston wanted something, he usually got it, and he wanted Clementine.

He asked his cousin, the Duke of Marlborough, to invite Blanche Hozier and her daughter Clementine to Blenheim Palace.

"A female friend, amiable, clever, and devoted, is a possession more valuable than parks or palaces; and without such a Muse few men can succeed, and none can be happy."

Those were the words of Benjamin Disraeli, and young

Winston Churchill was certain that his success and happiness were bound up with Clementine Hozier.

One day in August, he strolled with Clementine from the front entrance of historic Blenheim Palace toward Diana's temple—the stone pavilion set among the yew trees by the lake he loved so much.

Within the temple a bas-relief shows Hippolytus offering a wreath of flowers to Diana. The first line of the inscription, which is in Greek and English, reads:

"To thee bright Goddess, these flowers I bring."

It was there he proposed and she accepted.

Said Clementine, "Now I have got you, the trouble will be to keep you."

To which Winston replied, "You will find that no trouble at all, my dear."

His mother, who had known Clementine from a baby, was delighted with the match. Her son was affectionate, emotional, home-loving. She was sure Clementine was the wife he needed.

An excited Blanche Hozier wrote to a friend from Blenheim Palace with the news of the engagement, saying: "Clementine is to marry

Winston Churchill. Yesterday he came to London to ask my consent, and we all three came on here. He is so like Lord Randolph, he has some of his faults, and all his qualities.

"He is gentle and tender, and affectionate to those he loves, much hated by those who have not come under his personal charm."

Her mother also wrote to her sister-in-law Mabel, the Countess of Airlie:

"I do not know which of the two is the more in love. I think that to know him is to like him. His brilliant brain the world knows, but he is so charming and affectionate in his own home life."

Knowalls said, "He hasn't any money, and neither has she." And in society, in those days, it was the accepted "thing" to marry for money.

The bridal gown was ready, so were the dresses of the five bridesmaids. "Something old" was supplied by Winston's mother—lace to trim the bride's cuffs and neckline. London was excited at the prospect of the occasion—it was to be one of the most brilliant weddings of the year.

APARTMENT 3-G.

AS MR. PAPAGORAS, A NEIGHBOR, IS VISITING WITH TWO OF THE GIRLS IN APARTMENT 3-G, THE THIRD OCCUPANT WALKS IN, LOOKING SAD AND PREOCCUPIED!

MR. PAPAGORAS! I DON'T SEE YOU!

I DON'T UNDERSTAND MEN! GARY WEST SAYS HE LOVES ME BUT WON'T MARRY ME! HE'S GOING AWAY—TO FIND HIMSELF!

I'M SO INFERIOR.

I'M SO DUMB, AND WORTHLESS, AND INSIGNIFICANT.

HOW DID YOU LET YOURSELF GET IN SUCH A STATE, BUSTER?!

OKAY, OKAY! SO MY EARS ARE WARM! CUT IT!

SHE WARMED MY COFFEE—NOW SHE'S WARMING HIS EARS AGAIN!

AT LEAST, IT'S TAKEN HER MIND OFF THE PHOTOGRAPHERS. THEY'RE GETTING SOME PICTURES.

LOOK, AHEAD, MY EARS ARE HOT!

I FIGURE WE'LL HAVE 4 MEN ON THE MOON BY CHRISTMAS, 1970.

I THOUGHT IT WAS TO BE A 3-MAN TEAM.

ON THE FIRST LANDING, SURE...

BUT BOB HOPE WILL BE GOING UP TO ENTERTAIN THEM.

LET'S GET AWAY FROM THESE CONFOUNDED GEESSE, BUZ.

YES! AND I WONDER WHAT OTHER SENTRIES DR. SEED HAS IN HIS GARDENS!

TRY TO KEEP FROM BRUSHING AGAINST ANY FOLIAGE, ALMOST ANY OF IT COULD BE POISONOUS.

OKAY, BUT FOLLOWING THESE MOONLIT PATHS IS JUST AS DANGEROUS. WE COULD BE SEEN A QUARTER MILE AWAY.

TRICK OR TREAT

I WAS SICK LAST HALLOWEEN

IF IT HADN'T BEEN FOR YOU, YOU UGLY MONSTER, I WOULDN'T HAVE HAD ALL THIS TROUBLE OR KILLED BRULE.

I SHOULD HAVE DONE THIS WHEN...

JUST A MINUTE, COOPER!

WHERE'S BEETLE?

ER... HE HAD A HEADACHE AND HAD TO LIE DOWN FOR A MINUTE.

BEETLE IS ALWAYS SAYING HE'S ONLY LYING DOWN FOR A MINUTE!

I CAN'T WAIT TO HEAR HIM SAY IT THIS TIME!

—AND BESIDES THE WONDERS OF OUR SCHOOL, YOU WILL FIND THERE IS A WHOLE WORLD—AN EXCITING, CHALLENGING WORLD, JUST OUTSIDE THOSE WINDOWS...

THERE'S NOTHING OUT THERE BUT A COUPLE OF SWINGS AND A MONKEY BAR...

HOW MUCH DOWN PAYMENT ON THAT BRACELET?

E-Z JEWELRY CENTER

TEN DOLLARS DOWN—AND IT'S YOURS, YOUNG MAN. THAT IS, OF COURSE, IF YOU HAVE PROPER CREDENTIALS.

I'VE GOT A STEADY JOB, IF THAT'S WHAT YOU MEAN.

WAIT! I'VE GOT A LOAD OF THIS BABY—MAN! WILL SHE EVER BE IMPRESSED!
